Geneva Parley Resumes

President Offers Five-Point Plan For Disarming

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today that Russia and the United States "explore a verified freeze of the number and characteristics of strategic nuclear vehicles."
Johnson laid a five-point program of possible agreement before the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference as it resumed sessions after a break of several months.
In a message to the conference he said that by laying the groundwork in earlier years for the limited nuclear test ban treaty it had already contributed more to a disarmament than any other conference in modern history.
"Today your search begins anew in a climate of hope," Johnson told the delegates, including envoys of Communist, Western and neutralist nations.
Johnson's proposal to impose a freeze on the number and types of nuclear weapons, "offensive and defensive," was the second of his five points. It was not spelled out in detail.
In ordinary terminology of disarmament experts a "verified freeze" would mean an agreed limitation on the size of nuclear forces and on the types of weapons, with the agreement to be guaranteed by inspection in the participating countries.
Other points in Johnson program:

1. A discussion of the "means of prohibiting the threat or use of force, directly or indirectly—whether by aggression, subversion, or the clandestine supply of arms—to change boundaries or demarcation lines." The prohibition also could apply to any interference with access to any territory or to any effort to extend control over territory "by displacing established authorities."
2. The powers should attempt to develop "a verified agreement to halt all production of fissionable materials for weapons use." Johnson said the United States "is willing to achieve prompt reductions through both sides closing comparable production facilities on a plant-by-plant basis with mutual inspection."
3. The United States will be ready to discuss proposals "for creating a system of observation posts" as a means of reducing the danger of surprise attack.
4. The nuclear powers should agree to ban the spread of nuclear weapons to nonnuclear nations, should ban all nuclear weapons tests underground as well as those now prohibited and should accept inspection of their "peaceful nuclear activities."
5. Much of the ground had been covered by Johnson in a message to Soviet Premier Khrushchev made public Monday.

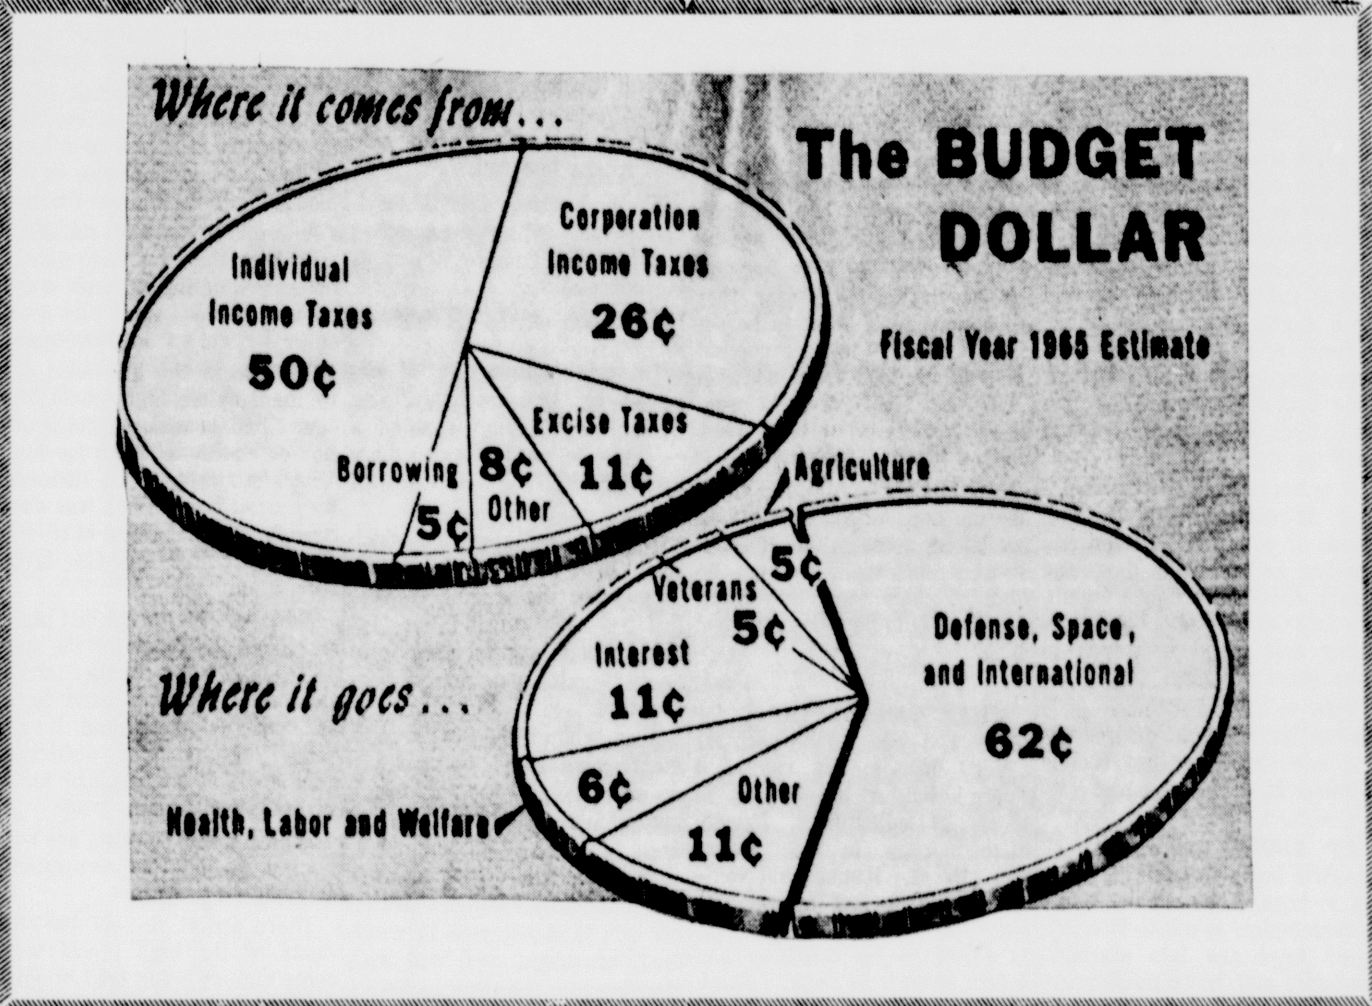

Tanganyika Calm With Leader Safe

British Rush 2,000 Troops, Aircraft Carrier To Borders

LONDON (AP) — Britain rushed nearly 2,000 troops and an aircraft carrier to Tanganyika's borders today but the situation in the new African nation appeared to be calming following an army mutiny.
A brief Associated Press dispatch from Dar es Salaam, the Tanganyikan capital, said a government information officer had announced that President Julius Nyerere was safe and would broadcast to the nation today.
Nyerere was reported at his official residence in Dar es Salaam.
Diplomatic reports trickling into London said the Tanganyikan capital was calm but under military curfew and the rebellious 1st Battalion of the Tanganyika Rifles, the country's army, apparently had taken over from the police.
The reports said at least 14 persons were killed and 120 injured in Monday's mutiny, triggered by resentment over low pay and delay in replacing British officers commanding military forces of the two-year-old commonwealth nation.
No white casualties were mentioned, and the victims were all believed to be African or Asian. Many were believed to be Indian owners of shops and bazaars that were looted during the disorders.
The British Broadcasting Corporation said in its 7 a.m. broadcast that all was reported quiet during the night in Dar es Salaam.
The U.S. State Department said all Americans in Tanganyika—estimated at about 1,300—were reported safe. They include 165 U.S. government employees working in the embassy, the U.S. Information Service and the Peace Corps.
The mutiny, coming only a week after the leftist coup on the nearby island of Zanzibar, brought quick British action to protect the 5,000 British citizens in Tanganyika.
The mutiny apparently succeeded in placing an African in over-all command of the Tanganyika army.

2 More Hancock Men Ask Constable Posts

Two Democratic candidates for constable have entered Hancock County's primary May 12.
George Herron Jr. of Pughtown filed as a candidate for Clay District constable, while Nicholas Doddierick of Weirton is seeking the post in Butler District.
Supt. Robert H. Hall said the special levy would raise $1,135,889 or an amount equal to one-third of the Board of Education's local school revenue.
It amounts to a special levy of $33.16 per enrolled pupil.
Renewal of the levy would mean continuation of these rates on the different classes of property:
Class I, 22.95 cents per $100 valuation, yielding $2,400; Class II, 45.9 cents per $100 valuation, yielding $171,000; Class III, 91.8 cents per $100 valuation, yielding $102,000, and Class IV, 91.8 cents per $100 valuation, yielding $838,000.
Supt. Hall explained that the 91.8 tax levy on Class IV property accounts for the bulk of the revenue, or taxes paid by business and industry inside municipal limits.
Even with the tax rates now in effect, the county is spending

Hancock Tax Election To Be March 10

Special Vote Would Continue School Levy For 5 Years

The Hancock County Board of Education Monday night set March 10 as the date for a special election when it will ask county voters to continue what is commonly called a 100 percent tax levy for five years.
Renewal of the levy would mean continuation of the same property tax rates in effect for a number of years.
Supt. Robert H. Hall said the special levy would raise $1,135,889 or an amount equal to one-third of the Board of Education's local school revenue.
It amounts to a special levy of $33.16 per enrolled pupil.

Glenn Triumphs In Political Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Registered Democratic voters will decide without a recommendation from the Ohio party organization between Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. and incumbent U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young for Senate nomination in Ohio's May 5 primary election.
The Glenn camp, Young and State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman all say they are satisfied with the outcome of Monday's political battle.
But the newcomer to politics, Glenn, appears to be the big winner.
The state's first preprimary political convention since adoption of the popular-primary system two generations ago broke up without endorsement for either Young of Glenn—and as a result, for nobody for any office at stake this year.
It was "mission accomplished" for backers of Glenn, the 42-year-old Marine Corps veteran who rocketed to fame 23 months ago as the first American to orbit the earth.
Young said in Washington Monday night that the convention result left him "very serene and contented" and expectant of victory. But the 74-year-old senator, opposed by a man 32 years his junior, had called for a showdown on endorsement for whatever value it might have had in getting the grass-roots party forces out in his behalf.
Coleman only Sunday night had told Young that he could have the convention endorsement if he wanted it.
So when the delegates voted 343-329 against single endorsements for each office, it had to shape up as a triumph for the Glenn forces. This was just what their strategy had called for.
Noisy adjournment on this note showed how far Glenn had come in just three days since he announced his candidacy.
The one-day convention in the Neil House ballroom exploded after John Wiethe of Cincinnati asked the convention to approve a single candidate endorsement rule. The Democratic County Chairmen's Association, in caucus with Wiethe presiding, had voted 88-42 to stand by the endorsement it tendered Young two weeks before.
State Rep. Richard Christensen of Mansfield retorted to Wiethe's move by demanding multiple endorsements.
That's when the draggy, slow-moving convention erupted into tumult.
"When we have two great Americans seeking election as senator, we should not endorse one to the exclusion of the other," Christensen said.
Shouting and whistling ensued, swamping efforts of convention chairman George Nye to gavel order.
"Let's vote, let's vote!" chanted

Quaker City Man Puts Up Bond In Secret Indictment

Vernon Edgar Hatcher, 27, of Quaker City, charged with second degree manslaughter in a secret indictment for the death of eight persons in a traffic crash last fall, was granted a continuance when he appeared for arraignment Monday in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon.
Coils from Hatcher's truck rolled into one car, then the truck hit another, killing six instantly and fatally injuring two others Oct. 2 on Route 7 near the Beaver Local High School at Williamsport.
Five of the victims were from the East Palestine area and the others from East Liverpool.
Notified of the secret indictment returned by the January Grand Jury, Hatcher appeared voluntarily yesterday and was served with the indictment then granted the continuance in lieu of arraignment. He posted $1,000 bond set by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard and was released.
Two others were given continuances, four persons pleaded innocent and two pleaded guilty and asked probation. Trials were set to start Feb. 3. Filing not guilty pleas were:
Kenneth Robert Kirker, 20, of Salineville R. D., theft of the car of George W. Ward of Sebring Dec. 18, and operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.
Lawrence G. Bobish of Alliance, non-support of his 9-year-old son.
James John Combs, 21, of Youngstown, burglary of the Schnorrenberg Garage at Salem, also a secret indictment.
Ronald Grady of Akron, burglary of Roy's Bar in East Liverpool.
Pleading guilty and requesting probation investigation were Raymond A. Stokes, 19, of Salem.

Cuba Slated To Get Four British Airliners

LONDON (AP)—Four Britannia turboprop airliners are being modernized and overhauled for Cuba by their British manufacturer amid fresh signs of expanding Cuban-British trade.
A spokesman for Bristol Aircraft Corp. said Monday night a Cuban delegation will arrive this week to discuss financing. The planes were ordered by the Batista regime in 1958 for $14 million.

Outlay Aims At Pockets Of Poverty

Calls It Giant Step Toward Balanced Budget, Prosperity

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called a turnaround to the long upward march of federal spending today with a cost-cutting, tax-cutting, $97.9-billion budget aimed at the nation's pockets of poverty.
Johnson sent Congress a fiscal 1965 budget message which confidently assumed the "earliest possible" tax reduction. He termed it a "giant step toward... a balanced budget in a full-employment, full-prosperity economy."

The budget would carve $1.3 billion and 27,000 civilians from the Defense Department. He proposed a $54-billion national defense effort, which includes along with actual military expenditures such costs as civil defense, stockpiling and atomic weapons procurement.
Other cuts would hit the Agriculture Department, the Post Office, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the Veterans Administration.

The new fiscal blueprint also would thin slightly the over-all ranks of federal jobholders, sell off a billion-dollar batch of government assets and cut the deficit in half—from $10 billion this year to $4.9 billion in the federal year starting July 1.

At year's end, June 30, 1965, the national debt will have increased from $311.8 billion to $317 billion, he estimated.
Nevertheless it is a "compassionate" budget, Johnson said, providing history's heaviest spending for "our nation's most important resource — its people." He asked more than $1 billion for a package attack on the roots of misery.

Johnson told the legislators he was guided, in this first major economic task of his presidency, by the principle that "an austere budget need not be and should not be a standstill budget," and explained:

"When vigorous pruning of old programs and procedures releases the funds to meet new challenges and opportunities, economy becomes the companion of progress."

"A government that is strong,"

Meeting Due For Firemen To Ask Raise

Council agreed Monday night to meet in a caucus session Feb. 3 at 6:45 p. m. with representatives of Local 24, International Association of Fire-Fighters, to discuss the firemen's requests for a pay increase and improved working conditions.

The firemen's request for a meeting was relayed to Council by Safety — Service Director Robert E. Vodrey. He read a letter from James Walker, secretary of the fire-fighters, asking permission for a meeting. It gave no details on the requests.
Council's rules require department representatives or individuals to obtain permission from the director before seeking a meeting with Council.

In other city job matters, Council heard a request from Local 677, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, for a meeting with Council.

Blastoff Set Thursday

U.S. To Launch Talking Satellite

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The world's largest man-made moonlet is scheduled for launching Thursday, and if orbited it could open a new era of scientific cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union.
U.S. space agency officials say this country and Russia have agreed to use the 135-foot diameter balloon, to be called Echo 2, for their first joint experiments in talking via satellite.
The United States and Russia agreed last August to use Echo 2 as an experiment in communications via satellite, bouncing radio signals off its reflective surface and picking them up at ground stations. A spokesman said this would be the first time for the two powers to talk via satellite. No date for the transmissions has been set.

The signals, on a frequency of 162 megacycles, may carry voices, audible tones, telegraphic code or facsimile pictures.
Echo 2 is expected to be visible in this country for the first time late Thursday, when it crosses the United States on its sixth trip around the globe about 10 hours after launch.
If the skies are clear, it will be seen as a pinpoint of light moving from south to north. The satellite has no internal illumination but can be seen when struck by rays from the sun below the horizon.
Western states should be able to see the moonlet about 12 hours after launch, on its seventh pass around the earth.
Launching is scheduled between 5:11 a.m. and 6:14 a.m. (8:11 a.m. and 9:14 a.m. Eastern Standard Time).

Council Approves Study

Efficiency And Economy Asked In City Operations

Councilmen Floyd Murray and Donald Hancock joined Monday night in suggesting that the new Council take steps to assure efficiency and economy in operation of the city government.
Council approved a motion authorizing the planning committee to study suggestions of the two councilmen and submit a report. The committee is comprised of Councilmen William Davis, chairman, Robert W. Sample Jr. and Hancock.
Murray, first to speak, offered an 11-point program.
As highlights, he declared that the administration of the city income tax department and the Department of Public Utilities (water and sewage) should be "placed in the hands of efficient, capable persons of honesty, integrity and good judgment who have the respect of the people."
The water and sewage departments now are administered by the three-man Board of Public Utilities, an unsalaried organization. Responding to a query, Murray said he had in mind returning the water and sewage departments to the city administration. The board was created to operate the two departments in 1952.

D. G. Wilkinson, a Republican, heads the income tax department. He engaged in several exchanges with Council a few years ago when the membership was all Democratic.
Murray said that the income tax department could be "placed in the hands of efficient, capable persons of honesty, integrity and good judgment who have the respect of the people."

Spelling Bee For Wellsville Set March 4

The date of March 4 was announced today for the annual spelling bee to select city champions for Wellsville in the county-wide bee sponsored by The Review and the Salem News newspapers.
John Mackov, principal of MacDonald School, and Sam Linger, principal of Gartfield, are in charge of the Wellsville bee.
Each principal will be in charge of the spelldown in their building. These winners will participate in the city bee. Each building is to have its contestants selected by Feb. 26.
The city bee is scheduled at 1

Understanding Of Problem Is Needed

What Of Those Who Are Different?

This is the eighth of 10 articles condensed from the new book, "Ann Landers Talks to Teen-Agers About Sex," copyright, 1964, by Prentice-Hall, Inc.
By ANN LANDERS
The subject of homosexuality is clearly a hot potato.
Why include this hot potato in a book for teen-agers? Because my mail tells me that thousands of teen-agers are either abysmally ignorant or have wildly cockeyed notions about the subject.
They need constructive information, but they don't know where to get it. Many teen-agers who write to me expressing the fear that they might be homosexual say they would "rather die" than discuss the problem with someone they know.

IN MY SEARCH for background material I found pitifully little that has been written in terms a teen-ager could understand. In fact, I found pitifully little written in terms an adult could understand — unless he happened to be a psychiatrist.
This chapter, of course, is no scholarly study. I am neither physician nor psychiatrist. But I do think I can help substitute dangerous ignorance with a measure of understanding. And I hope to dispel some of the anxieties resulting from a problem which too long has been swept under the rug.

I have read a bale of material by the experts — analysts, psychiatrists, physicians, sociologists and criminologists. The only point on which all the experts seem to agree is that there are massive disagreements among the experts.
THE TEEN-AGERS who write to me seeking information and counsel on homosexuality are usually between 14 and 19 years of age. Sometimes they write about a friend they suspect is "a little queer." Or they may be concerned about a member of the family who "doesn't seem quite right." But usually they write about themselves.

About 70 per cent of the letters come from boys. Most of the boys who write are tortured with guilt and self-hatred. They live on the razor's edge, terrified that someone may learn they aren't "like everybody else."
Before we go further perhaps we should define our terms. What is a homosexual? A homosexual is a male or female who desires, physically, members of his own sex. A female homosexual is called a Lesbian.
TWENTY-FOUR HUNDRED years ago homosexuality was widely practiced among the

A Study Of The People Who May Be Different

Greeks and Romans. Today there is a popular belief that homosexuality contributed, in a very important way, to the decline of both societies. The historians say this was not so.

They tell us, instead, that in the Greek and Roman cultures of that era, women were social and intellectual inferiors—their role was that of housekeeper and child bearer.

Passionate friendships among men were considered normal. Women were not "good enough" or "sufficiently intelligent" to merit intimate relationships. Not until the Christian era was homosexuality looked upon as immoral in Western civilization.

Some Questions

Do all homosexuals carry out sexual procedures? No. Some homosexuals are too inhibited or fearful of the consequences.

Is it possible to tell if a person is a homosexual by looking at him? No. In some instances an overt homosexual can be identified at a glance, but generally it is not possible to make the judgment by observation.

And now the big question: What causes homosexuality? It is on this point that the experts collide.

A FEW AUTHORITIES insist that a homosexual is a person who was "born wrong"—that he is a biological accident with a defective glandular system and an improper hormone balance.

In support of this theory they give us Exhibit A: the homosexual male with the high-pitched, girlish voice, the beardless face and the delicate features; and Exhibit B: the lesbian with the deep voice, the masculine features and excessive hair on the face, arms and legs.

"The evidence is incontestable," these experts insist. "Homosexuals are born wrong."

The view which is finding more and more acceptance is that homosexuality is a gross symptom of a serious psychological disturbance.

The specialists who hold this view insist that the vast majority of homosexuals are organically normal. They do not discount, however, the possibility that a small percentage of homosexuality is due to physical defects at birth.

IN REBUTTAL to Exhibit A and Exhibit B (those homosexuals who do indeed have glandular deficiencies and an improper hormone balance), the second group of experts points to normal males with high-pitched voices, beardless faces and effeminate features.

They also point to normal females who have deep voices, masculine features and excessive hair growth. These individuals, in spite of their glandular and hormone problems, are emotionally healthy and lead normal sex lives.

From the debate one point, at least, emerges: No one knows why the emotional problems of one child may lead him to excessive thumb sucking or prolonged bed wetting, while another child's emotional problems may turn him into a homosexual.

ALL HUMAN BEINGS go through stages when they prefer the company of members of their own sex—and it's perfectly natural.

Very young children play together indiscriminately. By the time a youngster reaches 6 or 7 years of age he usually prefers companions of his own sex. This preference may continue until high school age, varying with the individual.

It is not uncommon to see 11- and 12-year-old girls holding hands or with arms around one another as they walk down the street. Girls often dance together, talk on the telephone endlessly and spend weekends in each other's homes.

This is normal. These girls do not have sexual desires for one another. What they feel is a sense of companionship.

AT ABOUT the age 11 or 12, girls begin to take an interest in boys. Boys usually begin to notice girls at about 14 or 15. Some boys are late starters, however, and have no interest in girls until they are 17 or even 18.

A Difference

At this point I would like to make a distinction between homosexuals and child molesters. Many adults do not know the difference.

It is not true that all homosexuals are child molesters or that they constantly are making attempts to "ruin" young boys by introducing them to their way of life.

Most homosexuals stick closely to their own circle of friends and mind their own business. Child molesters are psychopathic personalities, a serious threat to society and they should be institutionalized and treated.

ALMOST EVERY BOY, by the time he has reached 18 years of age, has been approached by a homosexual. Homosexuals often loiter around parks, public toilets and places where boys are apt to gather.

If such an approach is made all that need be said is, "I'm not interested," then leave the premises at once. There is no need for violence, anger or shame.

I've had many letters from boys who are filled with fear because a number of homosexuals have made passes at them. They are afraid something must be wrong with them or they would not attract "queers."

Their fears are groundless. While something is drastically wrong with the person who makes the pass, nothing is wrong with them.

Back On The Track

And now, what can be done to set the homosexual on the track of normality?

First, let's not assume that all homosexuals want to be set on the track. Many are content as they are and have no wish to change. They are not a problem to society or to themselves.

Most homosexuals, however, yearn to be normal. And these are the ones whose heartbreaking letters cross my desk daily. Twisted and sick, through no fault of their own, they want desperately to be "like everyone else."

WHAT CAN BE DONE for those who want to be normal? Very little in the way of a "cure" but a great deal in terms of adjustment. Psychiatric therapy, in most cases, can give the homosexual some understanding and insight into his problem. It can help him to adjust to his condition and accept himself as he is. Talking about a problem with a doctor often can be tremendously helpful.

The chances for a complete cure are slim. An optimistic estimate is that only about 4 out of 100 can be made heterosexual—and then only with concentrated therapy.

The chances are better, of course, if the homosexual seeks professional help in his early years and is willing and able (and financially capable) to undertake intensive therapy.

TO THOSE OF YOU who are reading this chapter for information only, and not because you are seeking help for yourselves, I would like to leave this thought:

Be thankful you have been blessed with healthy, normal sex drives, and remember that not all boys and girls are so fortunate.

When you encounter people who are "different," remember that their lives probably are unbelievably difficult and that they are faced with the enormous problem of adjustment. You can help by understanding.

Man Charged For Stubborn Woods Blaze

An East End man pleaded not guilty today in Municipal Court to a charge of failure to control a fire on his property as the aftermath of a stubborn brush blaze that burned for several weeks last fall.

W. W. Koehler, 2230 Pennsylvania Ave. Ext., was named in an affidavit signed by Robert C. McIntosh of Scio R. D., division warden for the Ohio Division of Forestry.

To permit summoning of witnesses for the hearing, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff granted a continuance until Thursday morning. Koehler was released on his own recognizance.

McIntosh said the fire which Koehler is accused of kindling improperly and failing to control led to a brush blaze that burned in a wooded area from Sept. 25 until sometime in mid-October.

Area volunteer fire departments were called repeatedly in an effort to quell the fire, which burned in an almost inaccessible area.

The charge asserts that Koehler "unlawfully kindled a fire on his own land adjacent to woodland, brushland and land with standing tree growth without first removing to a safe distance the surrounding leaves, dead grass and other inflammable material."

The charge also alleges that Koehler left the fire unattended before it had been extinguished properly.

Special Vote Canceled For School Bonds

A proposed Feb. 18 special election in Southern Local School District on a bond issue for additional rooms at the high school and a levy renewal was canceled Monday night by the Board of Education, which is considering additional issues for the May primary election.

Southern Local Sets School's Sale Feb. 29

Want to buy a school? Southern Local School District will offer at auction Feb. 29 the Central School at Salineville, a two-story brick and stone structure erected in 1885.

The building was abandoned by the Board of Education last year when the new high school was opened and all Salineville elementary students were transferred to the former high school.

The possibility of construction of additional rooms at the Salineville Grade School to accommodate all eighth grades in the district will be studied further.

A proposal to add sufficient rooms at the new high school for consolidating seventh and eighth grades was turned down by voters in November.

But due to the increased enrollment at the high school, the board had considered construction of additional room for high school students, to be financed by a bond issue which was slated Feb. 18. A renewal of a current 5-mill levy was also to be submitted.

However, the board last night rescinded the move for the special election to further study the possibility of a bond issue to construct additional high school rooms plus sufficient rooms at the high school for a consolidated eighth grade.

Eighth grade students are now housed at the five elementary buildings.

There are at present 400 students at the high school with some classes being held in storage areas because of the lack of sufficient room. Jack Baker, executive head, estimated there will be 450 high school students next fall.

There are 114 eighth grade students in the district.

In other action, the board authorized the clerk to borrow sufficient funds for the February payroll.

Because of the small amount of carryover funds, the borrowing action—the first in the history of the district—was required, board members said. About $30,000 is needed for the monthly salaries of 87 employees.

The board will meet Feb. 3 to further consider the bond issue and levy proposals.

Guidance Group Names Officers

LISBON — Sam Pridon of Salem was elected president of the Columbiana County Guidance Association at a meeting Monday at the Episcopal Church.

Other officers are Lowell Goard of Salem, vice president, and Hubert Lawrence, county school psychologist, secretary and treasurer.

The constitution committee is comprised of Joseph Marra of United Local and Cornell Monday and Gary Pike, both of Lisbon.

The group will meet the second Monday of each month in Lisbon to share common problems of guidance programs, discuss testing procedures and share experiences in the schools' various programs.

Next meeting is Feb. 10 at 1:30 p. m. at the church. The tentative program will be a discussion of problems encountered with children with below average ability.

Well Job Set For Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Tentative approval for drilling of a new municipal water well, at a cost of some $6,500, was granted by Council at a meeting Monday night.

City officials said the municipal water demand is increasing and the city's present three wells in the western part of the town are providing less than in previous years.

The new well is to be drilled on city property in the eastern area. Council ordered legislation prepared for the next meeting.

In other action, Council appointed and installed Frank Early as Council president and Richard Miller as Second Ward Councilman.

They replaced Chester Whitehouse and Charles Brant, who were elected to the offices but announced they would not serve because their jobs with the Ohio Highway Department were incompatible with the city posts.

Council approved first reading of an ordinance providing for traffic control changes, such as some four-way stop signs and other changes.

Council rejected a proposed traffic signal on Brookdale Ave.

City Man Heads Young GOP Club

LARRY (Zeke) Walton of East Liverpool was elected president of the Columbiana County Young Republicans' Club Monday night at the County GOP headquarters in Lisbon.

Other officers are Olin Sanor of East Rochester and Jay Carter of Salineville, vice presidents, and Mrs. Jennie Magill of Columbiana, secretary-treasurer.

The executive committee includes Paul Cline of Salem, Wayne Rose of Wellsville, Paul Zehnder of East Liverpool and Larry Esterly of New Waterford.

The club adopted a temporary constitution. A social hour followed the meeting with Mrs. Charles Pike and Mrs. Ray Davies in charge.

Walton will call an officers' and executive board meeting before the next regular session of the club Feb. 26 at 8 p. m. at the GOP headquarters, according to Mrs. Davies, publicity chairman.

A Common Cold In Ideology

Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance has made an official charge that Castro Communists trained in Cuba helped to incite the recent riots in Panama.

No one is going to argue with Secretary Vance.

But isn't it time somebody questioned the practice of blaming Communists for showing up in trouble spots, instead of accepting the fact Communists always show up in trouble spots.

Communism is a common cold in ideology — a sickness lying in wait for every country whose resistance runs low.

It is a negative force. It never has earned enough popular confidence to take a position of authority. It seizes control only when there has been a breakdown of authority. It is an infection, an affliction.

AS FAR AS Panama is concerned conditions there have been threatening the security of the Panama Canal Zone for a long time. The United States has failed to do anything to improve them.

No one was surprised when trouble broke out again, everybody had expected trouble. No one was surprised when Castro Communists showed up to exploit the unrest.

Castro Communists had been "telegraphing their punch" for years. Castro had proclaimed his intentions from the housetops. Not only in Panama but in all of Latin America he has had Communist agents waiting to take quick advantage of every breakdown in local resistance to the Communist infection.

THIS IS THE Communist strategy of hoped-for conquest.

Communists believe all they have to do is wait for the existing economic order and its accompanying political and social order to weaken, then move in and take over. Every outbreak of civil disorder is a symptom of decay.

The United States should not be surprised when it happens.

Americans need not be surprised when it happens.

What is surprising is that the United States and the American people have been unable to turn the tables on Communist subversives by keeping them so busy at home they have no time to spread infection abroad.

Improving The Percentage

President Johnson says a fifth of the population of the United States are living "without hope, below minimum standards of decency."

It used to be the claim of the original New Deal that a third of the American people were "ill fed, ill clothed and ill housed."

On the face of it, the percentage has improved from a fifth to a third, though we cannot be certain the third which Franklin D. Roosevelt declared to be ill fed, ill clothed and ill housed would be identical with the fifth Lyndon B. Johnson declares to be living below minimum standards of decency — "without hope."

These are iffy matters. Much depends on circumstances.

Americans living without hope and below minimum standards according to wealthy men like President Roosevelt and Johnson are not necessarily without hope or below minimum standards according to people like themselves. Some of us do not know how miserable we're supposed to be.

THIS DOES NOT deny that many are in need of help, but it denies that the kind of help they need can be forthcoming from assistance forthcoming via politics.

For a generation, government has been crying emergency about the plight of Americans worse off than they might be. Costly programs have been put into motion to rescue them from the sloughs of their despondency. But the beneficiaries of the program are relatively as bad off now as before.

The poor we will have with us always. That's the trouble.

Another permanent fixture in the United States is the political succor that always will be forthcoming for the poor, whether they need it or not.

On farms, in cities, in villages and byways there will be voices of reassurance. Help is always on the way. Federal taxes are about to be lowered, to help struggling corporations, now also among the down-trodden. Federal funds will be poured out for the aged, the ailing, the poorly educated, even the ineducable.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON, off and running for election, has good things in store for the unemployed, minimum wage earners, unemployed, people who want cheaper transportation, people who want better houses.

Three years ago, a well-turned phrase in an inaugural address caught the public fancy — "Ask not what your country can do for you — ask what you can do for your country."

The phrase now has been turned around — "Ask not what you can do for your country — your government will tell you what it's going to do for you."

Mr. Johnson so far has no official slogan — no New Deal, no Square Deal, no New Frontier. But he is a New Dealer at heart. He wants to help everybody — from barefoot moguls in Wall Street to barefoot children in Mississippi.

We're going to abolish poverty if it takes every cent we have!

Payoff Is At The Polls

Ohioans who may never have gasped before at the ferocious infighting of this state's Democrats are getting an eyeful and an earful in the state organization's reaction from John H. Glenn's candidacy for the Democratic Senate nomination.

Pow, smack, crunch, zowie and bop! You'd never think America's first space-man could set off so many fireworks simply by announcing he wanted to get out of outer space into inside politics.

One may wonder if he was briefed on what was going to happen if he jumped into the Democratic senatorial primary. Did he know the consequences of deciding to compete against a Cuyahoga County favorite for Democratic favor in Ohio?

WE THINK he must have had extensive knowledge of the repercussions, or he wouldn't have made the decision. Col. Glenn may be innocent about some of the inside workings of the Democratic party in Ohio, but he's no fool.

As a native Ohioan he knows about Frank J. Lausche, Ohio's other senator. Sen. Lausche, a Cuyahoga County maverick, became a five-term governor and finally U.S. senator. He has made a career out of running against the Cuyahoga County organization.

Nominally a Democrat, he has won elections with the consistent help of Republican voters convinced by his independence of the Democratic party machinery that he must be worthy of their support.

The Lausche technique has been one of the least-guarded secrets in politics. Col. Glenn and his advisers probably have studied it until they have it letter-perfect.

RUN AGAINST the organization. Make a pitch for independent voters in the primary and in the election.

Be just Democrat enough to lay claim to Democratic support on general principles but never Democratic enough to alienate non-Democrats.

It makes organization Democrats froth at the mouth, but they can do nothing about it as long as the maverick can pull the votes. The payoff is at the polls, nowhere else.

About Winter

Funny thing about winter.

Much as I dislike being cold and the inconvenience of ice, snow and things that are frozen up or stuck tight, I like winter, itself.

I like being outside when there's snow on the ground and all landscapes are monochromes.

I like the feeling of being snug in winter clothing.

I like the tonic effect of chilled air and the sharpened odors of smoke, gasoline and burning tobacco when no other odors compete for attention.

I like the absence of stinging and crawling insects and I like freedom from perspiration. With proper clothing, you can stay warm in winter, but no one knows how to stay cool in summer when temperatures are high and you can't take air-conditioning with you.

SOME OF THE best hours of my life have been during winter picnics — wonderful occasions when congenial people played, cooked, ate and drank together in the snow.

When I was a child, my brother and I and our friends had a winter picnic every Saturday when my brother was not busy working. We would take potatoes, meat, coffee, butter and salt and have lunch in a place where nature had provided sheltering ledges along a creek bank. We would build a fire under a ledge and stay until it was beginning to get dark.

As a college student, I carried on the same pursuit of happiness, sometimes with a roommate, sometimes with a crowd, sometimes with a date. I've often wondered whether it's still done on dates.

I'M STILL sticking with winter picnics, except now the companionship has dwindled to dogs; it is their winter picnic.

They chase rabbits into brush piles. They jump into drifts to see how far down they will sink. They slide on ice.

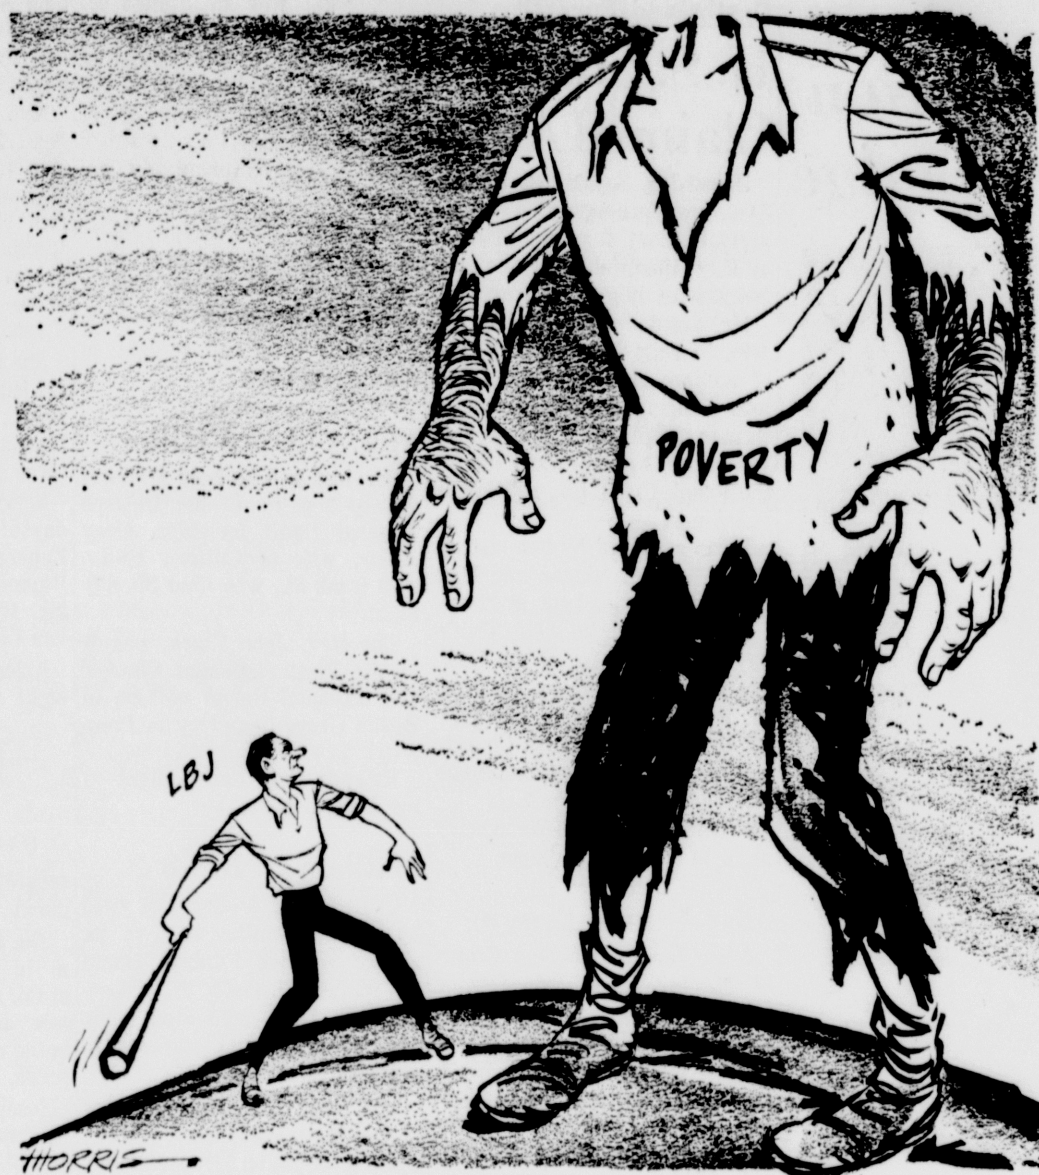

They scoop up mouthfuls of snow on the dead run. They roll in the snow. They bark at crows. If there's any work to be done, like sawing or snow-shoveling, they find a place of refuge safely out of the way and observe its progress philosophically.

When a fire has been built, they lie down on the leeward side, where the smoke blows over them to keep them warm.

Everything about it is fun for both dogs and people.

Much as I dislike winter as a source of discomfort and inconvenience, I am first to admit it is a source of some of the greatest pleasure any man could hope to have.

Big Order, But It Has Been Done Before

Latin Expert Gets Capital Brush-Off

By Victor Riesel

An ex-diplomat, who is considered by Latin American experts to be one of the best informed and most experienced specialist of them all, has been completely ignored by our government during the deadly violence of the P a n a m a n i a n crisis. He is Joseph S. Victor Riesel.

Farland, whose specialty within a specialty is the Caribbean area and Panama, to which he was U. S. ambassador for some three years.

Not only does he know Panama intimately — its campesinos (peasants), its Indians, its cities and mountain and fishing villages first hand — but he is an ex-FBI man who worked on what is known inside the bureau as the "100 Case" category.

This is the section handling intricate spy networks. Thus, he is also an expert in counterespionage, counter - insurgency, counter - infiltration and Communist tactics.

He has been ignored not only during the present crisis, in which American soldiers died from snipers' bullets, but also in recent months when he has been given the rudest and most unprecedented treatment ever handed a returning envoy.

HE RESIGNED as ambassador to Panama last August. Since then he has not had one phone call from any government agency. The State Department has deprived itself and our government of his knowledge by refusing to debrief him. Never before has this happened — not even to him.

Debriefing is the process during which a returning diplomat confidentially reports to certain government agencies everything he has learned about the nation to which he had been posted. When Joe Farland returned from the Dominican Republic, where he had been a successful ambassador, he was debriefed.

When he resigned from his Panama post, he sat in Washington for a full three weeks awaiting the usual calls from Central Intelligence, the State Department and several of its divisions, Army intelligence (G-2), the Office of Naval Intelligence, (ONI) the USIA, the Commerce Department's confidential divisions and the Panama Canal Zone Co.

No one called.

Yet the State Department officials knew from Farland's stream of reports, which came up regularly while he was ambassador to Panama, that he knew the inner details of the Castro operation, its objectives and its tactics.

SECRETARY OF State Dean Rusk was asked about this treatment during a session of the House Foreign Affairs Committee on Jan. 15. Rusk turned to an aide and asked, "What about it." The aide said: "Oh, yes, Mr. Farland has been completely debriefed."

This was absolutely untrue.

When I talked with Joe Farland last weekend, he confirmed his treatment by the State Department. But he would not interpret it, so we can all draw our own conclusions. It is not insignificant that Mr. Farland sharply criticized the State Department and the red tape of the Administration for International Development (AID) officialdom when he resigned in disgust.

As for Panama itself, Mr. Farland told me that it has always been one of Castro's first objectives because it is a primary strategic target for the international Communist apparatus.

FARLAND REVEALED that at least 700 hardcore Castro agents are operating inside Panama. Their cells are mostly among the campesinos, Farland said.

"The present activity of the Communists," he revealed, "in Latin America and in Panama specifically is to set up cells in the interior with the campesinos. The Castro operatives thereby hope to create a climate for guerrilla warfare. Without support from the land and the peasants, no guerrillas can survive."

"The Communists also have infiltrators and trained saboteurs in the big cities attempting to work themselves into the unions."

This is corroborated by a report that Sergio Otero, General Secretary of the Panamanian

Workers Federation, gave to a Communist global labor meeting in Moscow during its fifth World Federation of Trade Unions congress.

"A united front of 30 trade unions," said Otero, "has been formed in Panama. Among its objectives is to secure the withdrawal of foreign troops and to achieve the neutralization of the Panama Canal."

FARLAND, during our discussion of Castro, said:

"Here in the U.S. we should recall the fact that the first armed effort by Castro outside of Cuba was made in the spring of 1959. It was an abortive armed invasion from Cuba. His guerrillas missed their landing point and ended up at an isolated Atlantic spot known as Nombre De Dios, below Colon. Their destination was the mouth of the Coclé de Norte River, in the heart of government land."

"They had intended to move up into that uninhabited area. This is an old smugglers' route. I had tried to open it up for the poor people when I was ambassador. The Castro force's objective was to gather strength from the campesinos and overthrow the government. Then they would have assaulted the canal."

"They failed. But Communist agents did whip up a burning, looting, rioting throng in November 1959. The same thing as now — along the Fourth of July Ave."

There were other riots. One broke out shortly after Joe Farland and I talked in his embassy this summer. But no one was hurt until the other day — four months after he quit.

Why has this experienced diplomat been ignored?

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Two new names were entered in the race for Republican council nominations at Chester — Lewis W. Snyder of Indiana Ave. and Lawrence Cline of California Ave.

William Smith was named leader of the Eagle Patrol of Boy Scout Troop 23 of Chester and Floyd Peddycock Jr. assistant leader.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — East Liverpool's fire department responded to 334 calls during 1943. Mrs. Verna Corsello of Cream City concluded a four - week visit with her husband, Cpl. Phillip Corsello of Pecos, Tex.

TEN YEARS AGO — Susan Moffatt, Peggy Crytzer and Donna Springer were welcomed as members of Girl Scout Troop 25 at Neville School.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulk and family, formerly of the Leatherberry farm on the New Somerset Rd., Hammondsville, moved to a newly-built home near Salineville.

Seeing Red

By David Lawrence

U.S. Angered At DeGaulle Warmness To Peiping

President de Gaulle of France may not fully realize what he is doing, but he is about to take a step which could result in the first serious estrangement between France and the United States in more than a Century. The Paris govern-is soon to recognize Red China. This is David Lawrence in utter disregard of the position of the United States and of the principles which have caused the U.S. government during more than a decade to refuse to enter into diplomatic relations with Red China.

The prospective action of France will, in effect, tell the world that aggression — which has been specifically denounced in the basic principles of the United Nations Charter — can get a peculiar kind of reward.

The State Department only a week ago said French recognition of China would "not be a service" to the United States, or to the Atlantic Alliance and would enhance China's ability to promote its goal of imposing Communism in other countries by any means at hand.

The Soviet Union, despite its so-called "split" with Red China, has just indicated it will welcome French recognition of the Peiping regime.

THE UNITED STATES has befriended France time after time and has come to its rescue in two world wars in this century by sending millions of troops 3,000 miles across the ocean.

Many American lives have been sacrificed to repel aggression against France. The United States has provided the French people with about $10 billion in economic and military aid since World War II and has given moral support also for maintenance of solidarity against potential Communist aggression in Europe.

If there were involved only the fact that the Communist Chinese actually exercise control over a vast territory of the mainland of Asia, there would be less U.S. opposition to diplomatic recognition of the Red China government.

But the Communist Chinese made war on U.N. troops in Korea from 1950 to 1953, defying the organization which had been set up by the governments of the world to maintain peace.

What President de Gaulle now is saying, in effect, is that, no matter what an aggressor nation does, it can get from the French government full diplomatic recognition.

This is an encouragement of aggressor states and a disregard of the proponents of moral force, who have felt that the way to secure peace is not by military action but by concerted world opinion — the support of peoples who favor free governments and a free society.

President de Gaulle sweeps all this aside and extends his hand to the Red Chinese as if they had committed no crime in world affairs and as if they were eligible to be an ally of France.

THE NEW development has been under discussion in diplomatic circles for several weeks.

The United States has endeavored to persuade the French government not to recognize Red China, particularly since the U.N. itself has refused to accept Red China into its membership. But evidently there are materialistic interests in France that want to trade with Communist China.

Apparently, the French are also seeking some sort of new influence in Southeast Asia, where the next development probably will be proposals by the French government to bring about the "reunification" of what used to be known as French Indo-China, but which now is divided into North and South Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.

The objective of the Red Chinese is, of course, to control Southeast Asia. They will welcome French policy as assisting them in paralyzing the influence of the United States in that area. Once this is done, Communist takeover is simplified.

It has often been said of Gen. de Gaulle that he is a nationalist at heart and looks after the interests of his own country. But, in a world of turmoil, no nation can afford to disregard its most powerful ally.

The best explanation of Gen. de Gaulle's current move is that he believes the people of the United States will be indifferent and that this country will continue to do everything it has been doing in the past to assist France.

But public opinion can be volatile, and for France to fly in the face of the record of aggression by the Red Chinese is to arouse resentment in America.

IT HAS BEEN ARGUED that Great Britain has also recognized the Peiping government. But those who make that point forget that the British had recognized Red China early in 1950 — before Red Chinese aggression in Korea.

The American people have always been friendly to France, but a coolness will undoubtedly arise when it is formally announced that the French government has turned its back on the United States and has embraced the Red Chinese rulers responsible for the killing and wounding of more than 135,000 Americans in Korea.

did not reach the summit himself. Said President John F. Powers of the State Senate: "Try harder next time, you'll make it."

MADRID (AP)—Doctors attending Juan D. Peron, former president of Argentina, say he is doing well after an operation Monday for a prostate ailment. The 69-year-old ex-dictator lives in exile in Spain.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

Jose Ferrer, Song-And-Dance Man

A lady press agent of my acquaintance was rifling Jose Ferrer's liquor cabinet with me the other day as we awaited the arrival of our host, and we fell to talking about Ferrer the Funny Man (as opposed to Ferrer the Sadist in "Lawrence of Arabia") or Ferrer the Mighty Mite of "Moulin Rouge"). Before we knew it, we were roaring over our various recollections of "Charley's Aunt," "Brother Rat," "The Silver Whistle," and some of the early moments of "Cyrano."

BUT THEN Ferrer came upon us, looking rather sinister under his fore-and-aft cap of Persian lamb and the chin whiskers he has cultivated for his Broadway musical, "The Girl Who Came to Supper."

He proceeded to tell us of his new career as a song-and-dance man. Ferrer the Singing Hooper and Clown, you should note, will show up on "The Garry Moore Show" Tuesday night, Jan. 28.

"My interest in song and dance has been sort of always," he said in his muffled, hurried voice, like a machine gun with a silencer.

"I played the piano at age 5 or 6, and there was always music around the house. At Princeton, I had a band called the Pied Pipers. I sang and played before small groups; at proms or house parties, I played sax and led."

"WHEN I WAS in Baltimore with 'Brother Rat,' I lost my voice and Eddie Albert suggested I take singing lessons, which I've done, off and on, ever since. I've also studied some hoofing and some primitive dance, but strictly in an amateur way."

"I co-wrote and directed the musical, 'Oh, Captain,' and was brought in to direct 'Juno' in its final two weeks in Boston. It was almost a great show, but Marc Blitzstein wrote good songs for everybody but his two leads, and neither of them (Shirley Booth and Melvyn Douglas) could really sing."

"Back in '43, I was Danny Kaye's replacement for awhile in 'Let's Face It' and 10 years later I was in 'Kiss Me, Kate' in Dallas. Broke all the records there."

FERRER was persuaded to piece together some of the lyrics from the "Let's Face It" score, including "Let's Not Talk About Love" and "Farming"; then, in a hushed voice, he sang a few bars from "You Are to Me Everything." Very handsomely, too.

"There's a vast difference between the amateur and the professional," he went on. "To bridge that gap is a violent transition. And to become a professional dancer—well, probably it's too late."

"I don't do any dancing in 'The Girl Who Came to Supper' that a child couldn't do. But my favorite song in the show—and not because it comes at the end—is a nice thing called 'I'll Remember Her.'"

"I WELCOME the chance to do the Moore show and other TV appearances because entertaining is like prize fighting. You've got to work out in the gym before you can expect to get to the Garden."

"I've got eight performances a week to do at the Broadway Theater, but I've got to get out, too, and rough it up, learn songs fast."

"I used to use summer stock—as many roles as I could pack into 10 weeks—as my training ground as an actor and I took some lumps from the critics along the way. I have to do the same thing now as a singer."

"I feel, maybe foolishly, that I can learn and grow. Be young. There's room in musicals for all types. Robert Goulet is one. I, goodness knows, am another."

"With a musical career, I'm not defending a position. I've DONE the other things."

"BEING in 'The Girl Who Came to Supper' makes me feel the way I did in 'Brother Rat.' The audiences love the show. We have a good time on stage. But two guys come along and said the show is no good, which hasn't helped the box office."

"When you're in a smash, you get the greatest feeling, and no one is impervious to it. The strongest feeling of confidence I ever had was, naturally, in the best thing I ever did. That was 'Jago.'"

"I hope I get some more guest spots on TV after the Moore appearance. I've been saying for years that television is the greatest training ground we've got."

"You see 'Barefoot in the Park' and you see those two babies up there, Robert Redford and Elizabeth Ashley, out-acting the veterans, and you wonder where they learned their tricks. Television!"

Man Ruled Innocent

In Manslaughter Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—James Ellis, 53, of Blue Ash stabbed Philip Rogers, 33, in self-defense and thus is innocent of a first-degree manslaughter charge, Common Pleas Court Judge Frank M. Gusweiler has ruled.

Judge Gusweiler found Ellis innocent Monday after testimony that the younger man struck him first and then attacked him with a razor last Aug. 2 in suburban Blue Ash.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Neglectful Teens Yield To Warmness

Suppose your teenage son going from one room to another doesn't bother to close the door behind him. If this happens only once, you probably ask him rather calmly to go back and close it, telling him why you wish it to be closed. But suppose, in a single evening, this lad Dr. Garry Meyers goes through that door eight or ten times never closing it behind him.

The chances are that by the third or fourth time you are sorely vexed at him, and shout at him angrily, "Go back and close that door!" Perhaps he goes back and closes it but he may be about as angry as you are.

By the fifth, seventh or ninth time both you and he are pretty mad at each other, and you see no likelihood of his taking permanent responsibility for closing the door behind him.

SUPPOSE THIS occurs evening after evening for weeks and months. A mother once reported just such a habit of her adolescent son, which had been going on several weeks. "It spoils our whole evening," she added.

Imagine you were that mother. Seeing how futile your ways have been, resolve to show no anger in your voice or movements the next time he fails to close the door. Instead, calmly, quietly get up and close the door yourself. Just go on as if all were well and nothing bothered you. If you betray a feeling of annoyance, you will defeat your purpose.

At a time when you feel most serene, cheerful and kind, on seeing your son about to go through the door, you might wisely say in your warmest manner: "I would appreciate it very much if you would remember to close that door as you go through it. The air from the other room is very chilly."

PERHAPS YOU are thinking of the boy eight years old who you suppose would leave for school every morning with dirty hands, face and neck if you yourself didn't scrub him.

And when you do so you're not very gentle and both of you may be pretty angry at each other. Either give him the benefit of the doubt and let him wash himself or try harder to be more gentle with him.

Eight Men Jailed

On Contempt Due Release On Bond

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Eight men sent to jail on contempt of court charges for refusing to answer questions before the Mahoning County grand jury investigating crime and gambling in the Youngstown area were expected to be released on bond today.

The eight men were charged Monday by Judge Sidney M. Rigelhaupt, a ninth man, Orlando Carabba of Struthers, was charged but allowed to work Monday night.

Judge Rigelhaupt's action brought to 36 the number of persons charged with contempt since the investigation began late last year. Those previously charged were allowed to post $5,000 bail the day afterward.

Among those jailed Monday was Joseph (Joey) Naples, brother of the late Sandy and William Naples, slain here during the past four years.

Also jailed were Ronald Carabba, Orlando's brother; Dominic Senzarino Jr. of Struthers; Joseph Pieri of Youngstown; Hamlet Ferrera of Boardman; Frank Lentine of Youngstown; William Lantini, alias Billy Sunday, veteran Barbut gambling game man, of Youngstown; and Patsy Bucilli, a Campbell grocer.

Cuba To Get 13,000 Bulls From Canada

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuba is getting 13,000 Holstein bulls from Canada to improve its cattle, Havana radio reports.

Maj. Armando Acosta, general secretary of the United Party of the Socialist Revolution, announced in Santiago Monday that the bulls would begin arriving in April.

The broadcast, monitored here, did not say what financial arrangements were made or how the bulls would be shipped.

Methodist Youth Groups Convene In Joint Session

Members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Calvary Methodist Church and councilors were guests of the MYF of the First Methodist Church Sunday night. About 50 attended.

Bud Manley, president of the Senior High group of the First Church, gave the welcome and conducted business. Roger Hicks conducted devotions on "Youth at Prayer" and led songs.

Janice Manypenny, program chairman, introduced Dr. C. M. Myaberry, guest speaker. He showed slides of his recent trip to Southern Germany, Lichtenstein and Austria. He told of a Passion Play he attended and pointed out historical points of interest and every-day customs and life of the people.

Manley closed the meeting with the MYF benediction.

Refreshments were served in the social rooms by the Senior High mothers.

Next meeting will be a mid-winter institute of the Steubenville District Jan. 24-25 at the Columbian Methodist Church. The theme will be "The Peculiar Ones."

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Move Toward Your Goal In Steps

In reducing it is unexpectedly helpful to have a goal. For dieters, the ultimate objective is shapely normal weight. But there is no use quibbling when the goal is a discouragingly long way off, it is easy to lose sight of it. So what to do? Set up near goals. This adds a fillip of fun to the venture. It does more than that, for each separate success provides heartening proof that you are on the right track. Success nourishes success largely because your enthusiasm is recharged.

ENTHUSIASM — there's a zestful word! It means a stirring up of the spirit within. Look for interest renewers, for anything that enlivens interest rekindles the spark.

If you have in your wardrobe a favorite dress that you can no longer squeeze into, let that test dress be your near goal. The lift you will get from being able to zip into that dress will put you on cloud nine.

Suit your goal to your own temperament. Many dieters work toward the next five pounds off. One homemaker has a pact with her husband that she is to be taken out to dinner each time the pointer on the scales registers five pounds lower and is held at that level for a full week. Wisely, this homemaker does not make dining out an occasion to splurge, nor does she order dessert. To do so would defeat her purpose. She reports that breaking the routine keeps her happily aiming toward the next five pounds off.

MANY REDUCERS made their first goal one dress size smaller. With this picture in mind, they can whip into exercise so as to slim off inches in the right places as the bulky pounds are lost.

On the weight score: To wear a size smaller, you will need to reduce from 10 to 16 pounds, depending on your size category. Knowledge gives staying-power. Eight pounds off probably won't alter your dress size. But knowing that you are at least half way home will keep you from slipping into your old food habits! Know that with another six to eight pounds off you can wear that smaller dress size. Start picturing yourself in it—looking simply divine. And so, on toward your goal!

Balloonist's Body Found In Ocean

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Barbara Keith, the flying grandmother who died at sea during the first Catalina Channel hot air balloon race, was named "the first lady of hot air ballooning" as plans were laid for next year's race.

Mrs. Keith, 42, from Hartford, Conn., was found in the ocean Monday, locked in the seat of the hot air balloon that had lifted her off Santa Catalina Island 48 hours earlier.

An autopsy showed she drowned. Chief Deputy Coroner Gene Massey also said she developed pneumonia before she died.

He estimated the balloon fell into the sea about 6:15 p.m. Saturday, and said the time of death was probably 2 a.m. Sunday, almost 8 hours later.

Long Illness Fatal

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: Many of you new brides write that your hands blister when doing the ironing! (That's because they are not as old as mine!)

As the years pass the blisters will turn into calluses.

Later the calluses will turn into toughened skin!

In the meantime (and by golly that is now) I suggest that you take an old nylon stocking and wrap it around the handle of your electric iron! This will pad the handle.

After testing this for six months I find that some people are allergic to nylon. If you wear nylon stockings and have not broken out ... I feel it is quite safe. If you can't stand the nylon, try wrapping it in a piece of soft wool. Some people like this even better as it is quite absorbent.

Cut the top and bottom off an old nylon stocking and, starting at one end of the handle, wrap the stocking around-and-around-and - around until you have a beautiful padded "handle". Then pin it with a safety pin or tack it with needle and thread.

AND THAT'S all there is to it!

Not only does this padding "cushion" your "ironing hand" but instead of moving your wrist every time, the nylon stocking will slip just enough to do that for you!

Now, all you young gals who are getting started in this home making business, don't give up! We're all the way behind you. Keep your chin up and smile.

Who knows?

If you find a short cut to save time and energy, write to me so we can share it with others ... always.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I have six children, three of whom are in school. I loved your hint about making jello in small plastic containers and putting it in the lunch.

My problem was I couldn't find small enough containers, so with a baby in the house, I started using empty baby food jars. Now I keep jello ready at all times.

When my five older ones say they are hungry, I don't have to stop and "dish-it-out", as they just eat out of the little jars. Saves spilling too. They help themselves. There is no extra bowl to wash or to get broken.

MRS. J. F. F.

DEAR HELOISE: With the hard water in our city I have learned to put a few drops of our "beloved vinegar" in my steam iron as I fill it and this seems to prevent my iron from clogging and does not harm the clothes. I've tested this for a long time now.

HELEN KELLY.

DEAR HELOISE: The most meticulous of us have to make concessions to that slave driver "Time". The key to meeting all demands and saving time is organization.

Many minutes can be saved at the beginning of the day by arranging your cosmetics in the order in which you intend to use them. For example:

Place in front of your make-up mirror: your moisture base, next to it your powder base, then your rouge, your eye make up, and finally your powder. You will be surprised how much time this saves.

LINDA HANDLEY.

DEAR HELOISE: I always put a little foil pan (from those frozen pot pies) under my flour sifter so that when I set it down, the flour that is left in the sifter doesn't spill on the table.

Saves an extra clean-up job.

M. M. L.

DEAR HELOISE: When my clothespins get dark and dirty I put them in the bathtub (or one could use the kitchen sink) and spread them out as evenly as possible and run enough water in the tub to cover them. I add about one cup of bleach per gallon of water and let soak until all the blackness is gone.

I then pull the stopper out of the tub and let the water run out ... turn on the shower and rinse until the bleach smell is gone. The clothespins may then be left in the tub to drain and dry.

This can also be done in the bottom of your automatic clothes washer but by doing it in the bottom of the bathtub, the bleach water removes any stain in the bottom of the bathtub at the same time. Thus, killing two birds with one stone!

Employees, and another from City Electrician Fred Kane.

Kenneth McCarty, president of Local 677, appeared personally to ask Council to adopt a resolution recognizing the union as the bargaining agent for city employees.

Councilman Norman Bucher replied Council already has received a letter from the local with a similar request and has referred it to Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper. Council expects to be able to give a reply to the local "before long," Bucher said.

Council met in caucus with Kane to discuss his suggestion for official creation of a city electrical department. After a long discussion, the request was referred to the planning committee, headed by Councilman William Davis.

Kane explained that under the present arrangement his salary and the department's expenses are allocated generally among all city departments. But his assistant, George Fone, is paid out of the street department funds as a truck - driver, he said. Kane asked reclassification of Fone as a maintenance man, which would grant him a higher wage.

Under the new arrangement, Fone's salary also could be allocated to various departments and would not need to be paid entirely out of the street department, he said.

Total expenses of the department now run about $9,000 to $10,000 a year, Kane said. The city spent $3,900 in 1963 on electrical repairs.

The responsibilities include maintenance of 50 motors at the sewage treatment plant, 10 miles of wire in the fire department communications system and another five to six miles in the police telephone system, he said. The city also is responsible for most of the maintenance of new street lights on the Freeway, he said.

Democratic Club Inducts Tonight

Installation of officers, headed by Rudy Halpate as president, will highlight the meeting of the East Liverpool Democrat Club tonight at 8 at the Travelers Hotel.

Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, county chairman, will be the installing officer.

A charter will be presented certifying the club as the official party organization in East Liverpool.

EAST PALESTINE — Spec. 4C Perry G. Weyand, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight E. Weyand of R. D. 1, and other members of the 7th Infantry Division recently took part in Exercise Snow Storm, a week-long maneuver in Korea. He was employed by the Salem Stamping Co. before entering the Army.

Meeting Set At Salineville

The Ladies Civic Club of Salineville will meet tonight at 8 at the American Legion home with Mrs. Bea Hazlett, president, in charge.

Miss Judy Newhouse of New York is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Newhouse.

Mrs. John Dangelo and children and Miss Rosemary Wargo of Summitville visited here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sweeney visited Mrs. Dora Newhouse of Salem Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hazel of Brecksville and Mrs. Anna Pfiffer of Salem have concluded a visit with Mrs. Lena Hazel.

Mrs. Agnes Goddard, Mrs. Polly Young, Mrs. Bertha Davis, Miss Velda Karner and Mrs. Vivian Cole visited at East Liverpool Saturday.

Miss Alice D. Wright of Jefferson St. is a patient at the Town and Country Rest Home. Mrs. Theodore Plunkett and daughters of Hammondsville visited here Saturday.

Lloyd (Scotty) Weaver of E. Main St. is a patient at City Hospital with concussion suffered in a recent auto accident.

Terry Webster, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Webster of Monroe Heights, has returned from City Hospital after an operation.

Bryan Urges Firemen Hike

A 25 per cent increase in the salaries of firemen was recommended to City Council Monday night by Chief Charles Bryan.

The wage boost was urged in the chief's yearly report on departmental activities last year.

He also urged replacement of the North Side fire station and renewed his pleas for a building code and appointment of an electrical inspector.

Chief Bryan estimated the department's budget at $178,690, down slightly from 1962.

It includes $151,620 for salaries; $3,000, maintenance of fire equipment; $3,000, fire hose and nozzles; $5,000, lands and buildings; $3,100, uniforms; $600, laundry; $3,500, fuel and light; $600, telephone; $960, radio rental; $600, gasoline and oil; $300, furniture and fixtures; $2,000, incidentals; $310, firemen's bonds; $200, stationery; $400, fire alarm systems; $500, fire school training, and $3,000, fire hydrants.

Council received and filed the chief's report.

Dystrophy Drive Far Short Of Goal

A report on a recent fund drive which fell far short of the goal was heard at a meeting of the Columbiana County Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association Monday night at the home of Mrs. Robert Talbot of New Garden Ave., Salem, president.

The campaign committee said $1,925.24 was collected, with goal $6,100. Of the total collected, $378 was from "seeing-eye" contributors and the balance from house-to-house drives and canisters. The "seeing-eye" contributors are various businesses and industries.

Some money still is to be picked up, Mrs. Talbot said, and some areas did not have a drive this year because there were no volunteer workers.

Mrs. Albert Beeson, treasurer, gave the finance report and bills totaling $196.65 were ordered paid.

A discussion was held and tentative plans made for a summer camp for MD patients.

The group voted to hold an awards dinner for MD personnel, volunteers and students who have done MD research papers in school.

This will be Feb. 17 at 7 p. m. at Theron's Community Room on Route 164 near Columbiana. It will be a "Dutch treat" meal.

Council Votes Fund

$4,864 Allocated In Snow Cleanup

Council Monday night approved allocation of $4,864 to cover the cost of private equipment and operators hired by the city in the big snow removal job last week.

The appropriation was voted after Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey furnished Council with a breakdown of the expense in clearing away the 15-inch snowfall of the weekend of Jan. 12.

THE BILL consists 497½ hours of truck time, including drivers, at $2,734 and 164½ hours of high - lift time, including the operators, at $2,030, Vodrey said.

The trucks were furnished by five concerns and the high-lifts were rented from three companies, he said. But Vodrey said the total does not include the cost of the regular street department materials and payrolls.

He gave no estimate on the street department's expenses, which will be paid out of the regular appropriation. Vodrey thanked Council for prompt action in providing the funds.

The appropriation measure also included transfer of $5,000 from income tax revenue to the St. Clair Ave. improvement fund and a $225 allocation for the city health officer's car expense — an item overlooked in the temporary appropriation approved Jan. 6.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper told Council the $5,000 item is necessary "for incidentals not included in the federal participation" in the St. Clair Ave. project, including part of the fee of the engineering firm that prepared the plans.

THE FEDERAL Bureau of Public Roads has agreed to pay approximately 50 per cent of the cost of building a 36-foot concrete pavement and drainage system from Princeton Ave. to the city limits.

Councilman Floyd Murray of the First Ward told Vodrey he was "very unsatisfied" with the snow removal in East End.

"They spent a lot of money, but most of it went into the Second Ward," he said. "I received many complaints. Mulberry St. had to be cleaned twice."

Murray also said he feels that the director's office should instruct the police department to enforce a state law requiring removal of snow from sidewalks.

Councilman Donald Smith commended the street department for its snow removal work in the Third Ward.

COUNCILMAN James Cunningham asked the street committee to investigate a suggestion for elimination of parking on one side of McKinnon Ave. between St. Clair Ave. and Anderson Blvd. Turns onto McKinnon Ave. sometimes are difficult to negotiate in slippery weather because of parking on both sides of the street, he said.

Cunningham also asked the committee to consider erection of warning signs for motorists on Park Way at a point where a school bus picks up and discharges passengers.

Leo Payne of Riverside Park told Council water lies in the pavement in front of Westgate School after a rainstorm, apparently as a result of improper drainage. He asked an investigation. Murray said the complaint was reported previously by Councilman William Davis.

MURRAY, reporting for the street committee, recommended turning off a traffic light on Pennsylvania Ave. at Virginia Ave. If experience shows the light is not needed, then it can be removed, he recommended.

The light was installed during 1963 to aid traffic on Virginia

Newell Lions Hold Meeting

Earl G. Cordray, 608 Harker Ave., was inducted as a new member of the Newell Lions Club at Monday night's dinner meeting in the Shamrock Restaurant.

An employee of Globe Brick Co., the new member was inducted by Albert Logston, zone chairman.

Dr. W. Dale Williams of New Cumberland, international counselor, was guest speaker.

Thomas W. Miller, president, conducted business. He announced the Board of Directors will meet Thursday night at 7:30 in his home, 228 California Ave., Chester.

The club's annual "Ladies Night" program will be Feb. 17 at Platt's Tea Room, Wells-ville.

Guests were Norman Six, teacher and coach at East Liverpool High School, and Bob Gessford, employee of the First National Bank.

The next meeting will be Feb. 3 at the Watson House on Route 66.

8 Enroll As Members

In Radio Organization

Eight new members were enrolled at a meeting of the Pen-ova Radio Emergency Associated Citizens Team (REACT) Sunday night at the Glenmoor fire hall.

The group expressed appreciation to both citizens' band and non - citizens' band operators for responding to a plea for emergency blood for a city man last Monday.

Forty - four attended. Next meeting will be Feb. 2 at 7 p. m. with Brooks Mayfield, director, in charge. All citizens' band operators may attend.

Pughtown PTA Aims Plan To Serve Dinner

Fifteen attended a meeting of the Executive Board of the Pughtown Parent - Teacher Association Monday afternoon in the school, when plans were aimed to serve a luncheon to elementary teachers in the Hancock County school system.

Mrs. Donald Glenn and Mrs. Harry Hanst were named co-chairmen of the luncheon, to be held Feb. 13. The place will be announced later.

The January PTA meeting has been canceled. Next meeting will be Feb. 3 at the school, when life memberships will be presented Principal R. O. Stevens and Mrs. Rebecca Kaul. Mrs. Robert Golden, vice president, presided.

$300,000 Damage Set

In Cleveland Blaze

CLEVELAND (AP) — A two-alarm fire destroyed Shagrin's Appliance & Camera Store in the downtown area and did an estimated $300,000 damage Monday night.

Firefighters fought the blaze in the two-story brick building at 1727 E. 12th St. for an hour before bringing it under control. No injuries were reported.

Trustees Given Franklin Report

SUMMITVILLE — Bills totaling $255 were paid by Franklin Township trustees at a meeting Monday night at the township house.

Forrest Thompson, vice president, was in charge. John Wargo, president, was absent. Ernest Phillips, road supervisor, reported the truck became disabled during snow removal Jan. 13 and repairs were completed the next day.

He said township roads were made passable by the night of Jan. 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dowdell and Miss Coletta Kelley, clerk, will attend the Ohio Association of Trustees and Clerks at Columbus later this week.

The next meeting will be Feb. 3.

Midland School Drops Plans For Night Class

Principal William A. Walters said today that because of an apparent lack of interest, the proposed evening school classes will not be conducted at Midland High School.

Registration for the classes was scheduled for Monday evening but Walters said not enough persons enrolled for any of the eight offered courses. A total registration of 20 was required for seven of the classes and 10 for the other.

Beaver Local Board Delays Levy Airing

The Beaver Local School District Board of Education Monday night scheduled discussion on renewal of a current 2-mill levy and the possibility of an additional levy for a session next Monday night.

The discussion was postponed last night in order to obtain final figures for preparation of the budget. The current 2-mill levy will expire this year, and the need for additional financial resources stems from the decline in previous revenue.

The board granted a leave of absence to Miss Abbie Harris, sixth grade teacher at the Public School, and accepted a discontinuance of service of Miss Helen Ryan, eighth grade teacher, due to personal illness.

Mrs. Wanda Marie Abels of near Youngstown will replace Miss Harris and Miss Ryan.

George VanHorne, executive head, reported on the proposed repairs to the Rogers School addition damaged by a heat explosion Jan. 12.

He said all estimates have been supplied insurance firms involved, and that once the approval of the insurance representatives is received, the addition can be back in operation in about a month.

Board members suggested the first item of repair be to the heating system and to the kitchen in order to provide warm meals for the students.

A letter of appreciation was authorized for Dr. Melbourne Burnett and Dr. Arthur Cloran for volunteer aid to the school health and athletic programs.

The board also approved payment of tuition to Terry Lee Barker to the Youngstown Sight Saving School.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays will be requested to determine if the Post Office Department will approve direct school delivery of mail. At present mail trucks can only deliver mail to the school mail box along the highway and because of the large amount of mail, some had to be left at the base of the box and has occasionally been damaged by weather.

Clayton Aughinbaugh, Lee Myers and William Smith, new board members, will attend a Northeast Regional Boardman-School at Kent Saturday. The next regular meeting will be Feb. 3.

Rig's Driver Pinned In Cab After Plunge

A Colliers trucker was in "fair" condition today in Weirton General Hospital with injuries received when pinned in the wreckage of his tractor-trailer rig which upset in a ravine north of Weirton at 6 this morning.

Jack D. Bennett, 28, of Colliers R. D. 1 was pinned in the cab of the rig for half an hour before being extricated by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

He suffered contusions of the chest and possible injuries of his right leg, which was caught between the steering column and the dashboard.

Deputies said the empty rig upset over a 50-foot embankment, near Rainey Hill Rd. along State Route 2. Bennett told deputies he was forced to the berm by traffic headed south, and the snow pulled the rig over the embankment into the ravine. The rig is leased by Fort Steuben Express, and owned by George W. Locke of New Cumberland, deputies said.

In another mishap at 3:30 p.m. Monday, a pick-up truck operated by Jack Lee Staley, 31, of Georgetown R. D. 1 was struck in the rear by a sedan of Wendell W. Stouffer, 33, of New Cumberland R. D. 2, deputies said. Staley had stopped in his northbound lane. Neither was injured.

ed delegates, shouting down Nye's call for a voice decision.

A roll call was ordered. The 88 county delegations were polled and tabulators announced the 343-329 tally.

Akron Mayor Edward Erickson moved for adjournment, saying such a close division would preclude endorsements.

Congressman Wayne Hays of Flushing, a spearhead in the Glenn boom, quickly seconded the motion. And Young's campaign manager, Howard Metzbaum of Cleveland, followed suit.

Nye declared the convention adjourned.

Coleman said the outcome "left the party in pretty good shape."

He said he considered it fine that a floor fight over a commitment to either Senate candidate hadn't developed and left a real rift in Democratic ranks.

What did happen "is the type of thing we want in the Democratic Party," Coleman observed. "We want everyone to be heard. Wherever you get Democrats together, you can count on pandemonium. This is par for the course."

Glenn remained in his hotel suite several floors above the ballroom where the convention was taking place. Afterward, he told newsmen: "You know I would like to say something but I'm not allowed to."

He has explained that he can't campaign or take a more active part in politics until his release from the Marine Corps comes through.

But a number of delegates, including some of the county chairmen, said sentiment for Glenn appeared stronger than had been suspected. Some prominent in party affairs—who spoke out for Young—admitted in confidence that they feel Glenn could be the first spark to put new life in the Ohio Democratic Party.

TV Station Plans Chester Facility

Wheeling's television station, WTRF, Channel 7, has applied to the Federal Communications Commission at Washington for permission to erect a transmitter facility on the hills in the Chester area to improve reception in East Liverpool district.

Termed a translator station, its signal would be changed for reception on Channel 6, according to the engineers at the station.

Representatives of the firm have inspected sites in the hills overlooking East Liverpool. The station would provide only WTRF programs, and would also improve reception in the Chester district, a spokesman said.

Chester has been served since 1951 with the C. & S. TV Cable Co., operated by Bob Burch and Don Chaney.

Another commercial antenna service cable system group is conferring with East Liverpool and Wellsville Councils concerning establishment of a system in the two communities.

The planned antenna would be about 50 feet high. If FCC approval is received, and plans go according to schedule, the facility could be in operation by summer, a spokesman said.

Spurred by tax cuts, national output this year will soar by nearly $40 billion to a surprising record total of about $623 billion, the President predicted, generating higher revenues despite the lower tax rates.

So federal income will climb by $4.6 billion in the coming fiscal year to $93 billion, while government spending is squeezed down by $500 million to $97.9 billion for the second budget cut in nine years.

But Johnson added a warning—an implied hint of business recession and a bigger deficit if taxes are not cut—to jog the congressional champions of fiscal caution who have delayed action for more than a year on the $11-billion tax reduction bill.

3 inexpensive ways to make a "hard to heat" room comfortable

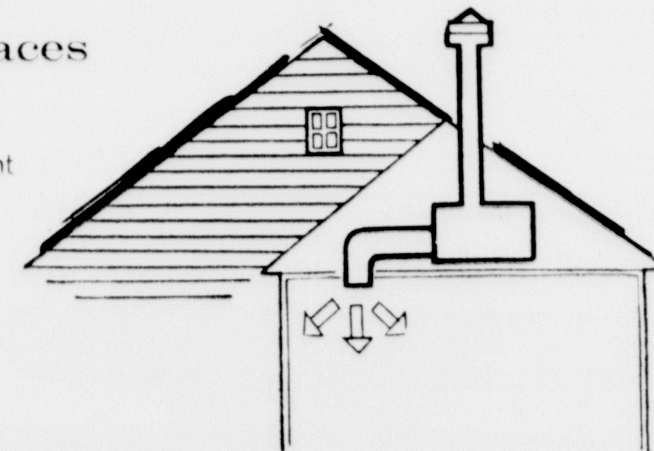

1 Install a GAS Heater that Vents through the Wall

New vents for many heaters eliminate the need for expensive chimneys and flues. Any outside wall is an ideal place to locate these handy heaters. And what a wide variety you have to choose from... there's a style and size to fit your exact requirements. And most can be thermostatically controlled.

3 Compact GAS Furnaces Tuck Away Out of Sight

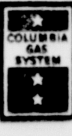

The attic, or a closet, provide excellent spots to locate Gas furnaces. Approved metal flues can extend right through the roof to keep installation costs to a minimum. These fresh air furnaces filter and circulate the air and keep it at pre-selected temperatures.

GAS is the secret of economy and comfort

Don't give way to the temptation to heat a cold spot with a cheap portable heater. The cost of operation is extremely high and what might seem like economy at first often turns out to be an unnecessarily expensive venture.

Wellsville Board Receives Report

Possible future improvements to the system were discussed and standing committee chairmen were named at a meeting of the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night.

Supt. Lowell Myers in presenting his report said the administration believes the greatest need is a place for a large study hall and a large testing area. He said if the old high school auditorium is renovated, it would provide such space.

MYERS asked the board to give this consideration as a summer project.

Mrs. Margaret Lloyd, board member, suggested an architect be asked to check the auditorium for possible recommendations to extend usage of the space. She said it could possibly be divided by folding doors for additional classroom space if not being used for study hall.

Russell Dysert, president, said a seating firm should be contacted to obtain possible costs for providing all new seats.

Various phases were discussed, including electrical wiring. The board finally agreed to contact an architect for advice.

During the discussion, Dysert commented he would like to see an entirely new building to replace the Garfield School. Earlier, he commented on the need for a teachers' lounge at Garfield. The board asked Earl Mundy, supervisor of custodians and maintenance, to investigate possibilities and report at the next meeting.

DYSERT said all the other buildings have lounges.

Standing committee chairmen named were Earl Bake, building and grounds, rentals and custodians; Mrs. Lloyd, teachers and the adjustment of sick leave; William Ferrall, Athletic Board and Band Board representative, and Richard Grills, finance and Athletic Board representative.

After the appointments were announced, Ferrall commented it might be better to remove him from the Athletic Board as he said he "doesn't agree with the distribution of free tickets."

Dysert said this problem is one that possibly should come before the Board of Education. A general discussion followed. Various reports as to how tickets are handled or reportedly had been handled were reviewed.

MYERS raised the question as to the advisability of the Board of Education getting into the matter. He suggested the matter be left to the Athletic Board as it already knows about it.

Ferrall said he plans to pursue the matter further if he remains on the Athletic Board.

In other business, Dysert requested that each Parent-Teacher Association and the Teachers Association sent representatives to the board meetings. He said this would provide a direct report back to each group as to the proceedings and action of the board.

Dysert also discussed the manual arts curriculum in the high school. He said he had discussed the problem of lack of space, equipment, necessary time, etc. with school officials. Another meeting is planned to decide what can be done.

MYERS reviewed the testing system used in all grades of the schools.

Raymond Rolley, clerk, was asked to obtain costs for providing drapes for windows in the high schools. Myers said the teachers had purchased drapes for the lounges in Daw Junior High School.

Mundy reported a new element had been installed in the electric hot water tank at Fairview School and a new tank installed at McKinley School. He also said one of the wall heating units at McDonald School needs replaced. Others are leaking, he said.

A snow blower has been purchased for clearing school walks. Myers thanked Mundy and the custodians for removing the snow from around the schools and Russell's Dairy for use of a tractor during the heavy snow.

A discussion was held on the possibility of obtaining insurance on school - owned band instruments. No action was taken. The replacement cost of those owned by the school totals $8,917.

ROLLEY said it will cost $7 more per year to raise the school bus liability insurance from $200,000 to $500,000 on all three buses. The present policies are not due until May. The increase will be authorized.

Dr. William McCutcheon was reappointed to another seven-year term on the Wellsville Library Board of Trustees.

Ferrall pointed out the need for new work tables in the home economics department. Myers said he had received a request for new tables and new lighting. The costs will be obtained.

A boiler inspection report showed release valves on the systems at Garfield and McKinley School need replaced. They are to be replaced with a more improved type.

The board's share of the November election cost was $1,178.05.

A letter of thanks was received from the Wellsville Women's Civic Club for the use of the all-purpose room at McDonald.

DYSERT commended Ferrall for his work as president last year.

In presenting the financial report, Rolley commented it was the best yearend report he had handled in 16 years serving the board.

"We finally got by the end of a year without having to borrow money," he said. Some years past the board had to borrow as much as $65,000 and one year the teachers did not receive a Christmas pay.

Rolley said there was a bank balance of $121,333.47 with $95,334 in the general fund.

It will take $86,000 from the general fund for payrolls for January and February. This leaves enough for bills for January and by the time they are due in February, the state foundation check should have arrived, he said.

"If we can get by the first two months without having to borrow, we can make it the remainder of the year," Rolley commented.

HE POINTED out one of the factors for the carryover was the fact the teachers did not start collecting their salary increase last year until September.

"This was co-operation on their part and put the system in a better financial position," he said.

Myers was granted permission to attend the American Association of School Administrators convention at Atlantic City Feb. 15-19. He asked board members also to attend, but all indicated they do not feel they can.

The Ohio School Board Association meeting is Saturday at Kent State University. No one apparently is planning on attending.

At the request of Dysert, the board held a caucus after the business meeting. Grills was absent.

Jaycees Will Attend Event In Columbiana

A group from the East Liverpool Junior Chamber of Commerce plans to attend the annual Bosses' Night banquet of the Columbiana Jaycees Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the South Side School. Lou Groza, who has scored more points than any other player in the history of the National Football League, will be guest speaker. Groza is the place - kicker for the Cleveland Browns. He is the only member of the original 1946 Browns still playing football.

The dinner at Columbiana this year has been expanded to include the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club, Ruritan Club and Boosters Club.

Dennis Paulson and Donald Kabler are co-chairmen.

Plans Development

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mount Vernon Estates, Inc., plans a $40 million residential and commercial development on 150 acres in Mayfield Village. The firm asked the Village Council Monday to rezone the area from office, laboratory and production uses. The land is on Wilson Mills Road near SOM Center Road.

Area Council Names Heads

Officers were elected at the first annual meeting of the East Liverpool Area Council, sponsor of the local Camp Fire Girls organization, Friday afternoon in the group's conference room on Broadway.

The officers are: Mrs. Marvin Kinsey, president; Mrs. Russell Smith, first vice president; Sidney Porter Jr., second vice president; Mrs. Donald Ogilvie, secretary; Mrs. William Ogilvie, assistant secretary; Richard Emmerling, treasurer, and Mrs. Sidney Porter Sr., assistant treasurer.

Trustees named were Mrs. Louis Tobin and Mrs. Beatty.

The names of Sidney Porter Jr., current president of the Area Camp Fire Girls, and Emmerling were added to the council. Nominations were presented by Mrs. John M. Koos, chairman of the nominating committee.

During business conducted by Mrs. David Beatty, the articles of incorporation were reviewed and several amendments were presented and accepted.

The Area Council was organized in June 1962 to sponsor an educational recreational program for the girls of the Southern Columbiana County and Upper Hancock County.

Other members present were Mrs. Charles Bailey, Mrs. P. R. Blake, Mrs. Charles Gerace, Mrs. Ruth Sprouse, Mrs. Richard Bonistelli, Mrs. George Weikert, Mrs. Raymond Gallo-way and Mrs. Arthur Eddy.

Next meeting will be in September.

Fairmont Man Seeks Seat In U.S. House

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — W. R. (Squibb) Wilson of Fairmont, a four-term member of the House of Delegates, aspires to a seat in a higher legislative body.

Wilson, 50, filed yesterday for Democratic nomination for the House of Representatives from the 1st Congressional District. He filed his papers only a few hours after the incumbent, Arch A. Moore Jr., R-W. Va., announced he would seek Republican renomination for the same office.

Other filings yesterday included: U. S. Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va. delegate at large to the Democratic National Convention.

C. Page Hamrick Jr., Charleston, Delegate at large to the Democratic National Convention.

Lucille Thornhill, Bluefield, delegate to the Democratic National Convention from the 5th Congressional District.

Raging Fire Battled In Cincinnati Area

CINCINNATI (AP) — Firemen from nine companies continued early today to battle a raging fire in a sprawling discount store at suburban Evendale.

Freezing weather was starting to hamper their efforts to get the blaze under control. Harry Moss, general manager of Rink's Discount Department Store, said the loss probably would amount to $2 million.

No injuries to firemen were reported, but a woman spectator was treated for cuts and bruises when she stumbled over a hose and fell.

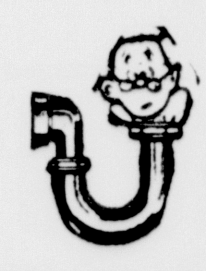

Driver Forfeits Bond On Charge At Chester

James V. Webster, 60, of Burgettstown forfeited a $20 appearance bond Monday night in Chester Mayor Harry Abrams court. He was cited for hazardous driving after ignoring a traffic light and crossing a line of traffic.

A hearing for Virgil Sprout of Montana Ave., Chester, charged with driving with an expired inspection sticker on his vehicle, was continued until today.

Forms Reviewed In Filing Of Tax

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer
Anyone can file his 1963 income tax return on form 1040. Some have to. Form 1040A is simpler, but to use it you must fit special rules.

You have no choice and must use 1040:

1. If your income was $10,000 or more.

2. If, no matter how big or little your income, you want to

Second In A Series

itemize your deductible expenses in order to claim them in full.

3. If you had more than $200 income in dividends or interest or wages from which tax was not withheld.

You can use 1040A only:

1. If your income was under $10,000.

2. If it was entirely in wages from which tax was withheld except for no more than $200 in dividends or interest or wages from which tax was not withheld.

3. And if you do not itemize your deductible non-business expenses but are willing to accept the standard deduction allowed everyone.

You must use 1040—and can't use 1040A—if you file your return as head of household or surviving spouse, were self-employed, claim credit for retirement income, are delinquent in filing your return, claim exclusion for sick pay, or paid an estimated tax in 1963.

If your income was $5,000 or more, you must figure your own tax, either on 1040 or 1040A. For this use the tax-rate schedule in the instruction sheet sent taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service.

What about those deductions for non-business expenses, like charitable contributions, when figuring your own tax?

You can:

1. Take the standard deduction mentioned above. This means you just deduct 10 per cent of your income up to a limit of $1,000, whether or not your expenses ran that high.

2. Or, if your expenses were really higher than that standard deduction allowed everyone—10 per cent of income up to a limit of $1,000—you can claim them in full but must itemize them to show you had them.

Two special notes on husbands and wives:

1. If a man and wife file separate returns and take the standard deduction, they are allowed to take 10 per cent of their income up to only $500 on each return.

2. If a man and wife file separate returns and one of them itemizes deductions, then both must itemize and both must use 1040. In such a case neither can use 1040A.

The under-$5,000 income people, who accept the standard 1 per cent deduction without itemizing, can find their tax in the tax-table in the IRS instruction sheet.

For them the 10 per cent deduction, since all taxpayers are allowed that much, already has been allowed for in the table.

If you're in the under-$5,000 bracket, but for some reason don't want to find your tax in the table, just fill out your return and send it to your IRS collector. He'll figure it out for you.

Then he will bill you for any tax owed or send you a refund if too much tax was withheld from you in 1963.

Anyone filing a return can exclude from his taxable income the first $50 he received as dividends from stock in domestic corporations. If you are using 1040A, just drop the first $50 from the income you report. If you are using 1040, you report the $50 on schedule B and then subtract it from total dividends.

If you and your wife hold stock jointly and file a joint return—that is, on a single return—you can exclude the first $100 in dividends you received before what's left is taxable. You can do this on 1040 or 1040A.

But if you hold stock separately and file a joint return, then each of you can exclude no more than the first $50 in dividends each of you received. You can do this on 1040 or 1040A.

People receiving dividends—in addition to excluding the first $50 or the first $100, as explained—also are allowed what is called a dividend credit.

This means you generally can deduct from your tax up to 4 per cent of the dividends you received, in addition to the $50 (or $100) you already excluded from your income.

If you can claim that 4 per cent dividend credit, you must use form 1040. There's no place on 1040A for a dividend credit.

Canton Five Continues To Lead Ohio Hardwood Teams

McKinley Has Taken 12 Straight

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Canton McKinley and Celina Immaculate Conception breathed a little easier today as they continued to pace Ohio's high school basketball teams in The Associated Press poll.

Both stretched their leads as the runner-up in each class went down to defeat.

McKinley, only five poll points ahead of Dayton Belmont on the sports editors' 10-9-8-etc. basis in last week's inaugural ratings, blasted out from 121 this time as the Gem City powerhouse dropped a 68-64 overtime tilt to Dayton Chaminade.

And the Celina team, 60 points ahead of Fort Loramie a week ago, stretched it to 131 this time as the latter was victimized 75-74 by Sidney Holy Angels.

Oddly, the losses failed to knock the losers out of their challenging positions.

Only Piqua Catholic's thrice-beaten team fell from the Class A list. Dresden Jefferson's state champions made their first appearance among the elite by finishing eighth.

From here and there:

Dayton Belmont roared back from the Chaminade loss to smother Lima Senior by 50 points—98-48. Mansfield trailed Lorain Admiral King 48-34 after three quarters, then came up with 37 in the last eight minutes, only to lose 72-71. And Mansfield St. Peter, winner of 53 of the last 54 regular games, has a 10-game streak going after its loss to Lima Central.

Portsmouth and Middletown went three overtimes before the Trojans won 69-67. It was Middletown's third overtime game in the last four—and the Middies have copped only one. Springfield South, after upsetting fourth-ranked Hamilton Garfield, dropped a 73-68 game to Urbana.

Newark's Wildcats, losers of their opener, made it 11 straight with a 55-50 victory over Zanesville—the latter's first setback. Dick Bell of Hamilton Catholic made 32 straight free throws before missing last week.

Dave Billick, Lorain Admiral King's 6-foot-8 star who is being sought as a college football tackle, is averaging 26 on the hardwoods. Akron North, rated fifth with 11-0, face once-beaten Canton Lincoln and Akron East the next two weekends. North's top scorer, with a 24.7 average, is Don White—son of coach Bob White.

Gary Rittig, Holgate's 5-11 guard, scored 47 in the 117-70 victory over Deshler. Zanesville Rosecrans, fifth in Class A, has a 52-game regular season winning streak going.

Larry Jordan, 6-6 senior, is averaging 29.5 for fourth-ranked Southeastern (Ross County). Madeira lost its opener to Cincinnati Withrow, then won 10 straight. Cincinnati DePorres, with a 10-2 mark, is tops among the area's Class A clubs—the two losses being to big city schools. DePorres beat St. Xavier (9-2) in the opener.

Teays Valley, with only one player who had seen varsity action, won 11 in a row—the latest a 52-51 squeaker over hitherto unbeaten Pleasant View. Larry Beard, the 6-4 Williamsport senior who scored 40 in the 91-43 nod over Laurelville, really gets around. He played two varsity years at Jackson Township, one at Teays Valley, and now he's at Williamsport.

Eight of Mount Vernon's 12 victories have been by four points or less, the latest 47-44 over Delaware and 75-72 over Coshocton. Canton McKinley, after turning back Canton South by eight points Friday, had a tough time taking Kent Roosevelt by two Saturday night.

Reds, Bright's, Pete's Take Openers

Herb Lake, Jim Potts and Franklin Jackson all went on individual scoring sprees to spark their respective clubs to opening night victories in the East Liverpool City Basketball League Monday at Westgate.

Lake took down scoring honors as he poured in 42 points in George Bright's 78-60 win over Bloor's Pharmacy.

LAKE, returning to the old form that made him a standout at Youngstown University several seasons ago, fired in 16 field goals and 10 free throws to reach his total.

Bright's moved out to a 17-11 first quarter lead then took a comfortable 34-22 margin at halftime.

Allen Receives Raise In Signing Contract

Bernie Allen signed his third contract with the Minnesota Twins Monday and was reported to be quite satisfied with an increase of about $2,000 over the 1963 pact. The Twins' second baseman, who has been completing work at Purdue University this winter, signed in the neighborhood of $12,000.

handed batter who has improved in each of his three years in the majors, caught 148 games last season and led the National League with 1,101 total chances, 1,008 putouts and probably the most embarrassing incident of the season.

That came at the All-Star game in Cleveland, where Edwards became conspicuous by his presence.

Ed Bailey had started behind the plate for the National Leaguers, and in the bottom of the third inning, Manager Al Dark decided to make a switch. In went Edwards. And out he came, just as promptly. Then Dark came out of the dugout, and Bailey went into the game.

Icy Pavement Blamed After Auto Hits Pole

Icy pavement was blamed after an East End man's auto skidded Monday night and struck a utility pole at Lisbon St. and Belmar Ave., Pleasant Heights, police said.

A 1956 four-door sedan driven by Richard Lee Stovall, 21, of 1013 Monaca St. hit the Ohio Power Co. pole about 10:09 as the driver pulled out of a nearby service station, police said. The pole helps support a city traffic light system at the intersection.

Stovall was driving a car owned by Robert Anderson, also of 1013 Monaca St., officers said. He said he pulled out of the service station and began to right his wheels when the car skidded on ice and hit the pole.

A street department high-lift and an auto were damaged in another mishap Monday at 2:28 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. west of Walters St., police said.

A 1959 convertible driven by Joseph Martin, 60, of 13 11th St., Midland, was involved in a crash with a 1962 model high-lift operated by John Cornell Jr., 39, of 600 Belmar Ave., police said. The mishap damaged the bumper, grill and right headlight rim of the auto. The report listed no damage to the high-lift.

Cornell told police his vehicle was traveling west, clearing snow along the curb. Martin said he was driving east at 20 to 25 miles an hour when he saw the high-lift moving toward his lane. He said he swerved, but was unable to avoid a collision because of oncoming traffic.

Ice also was blamed for a mishap on McKinnon Ave. Monday at 9:46 p. m., police said. A 1959 two-door sedan driven by Helen I. Plummer, 49, of Anderson Blvd. hit a parked 1960 model compact owned by Joseph Corbisello, 926 McKinnon Ave.

The woman told police she pulled to the right and applied her brakes to avoid an oncoming car. Her auto then slid on ice and hit the Corbisello auto, she said.

8 School Heads Have 'Chat' With Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Superintendents of eight city school systems had an "informal chat" with Gov. James A. Rhodes Monday. Columbus Supt. Harold H. Eibling said "we simply discussed problems of education, what's happening in Ohio with the mobility of population, growing enrollments, increasing complexity of education and other changes."

Cleveland, Akron, Canton, Cincinnati, Youngstown, Princeton and Parma superintendents also attended the hour-long conference.

Set Records In '63

CINCINNATI (AP)—Avco Corp. says both its sales and earnings set records in 1963. In the fiscal year ending Nov. 30, the firm had consolidated net earnings of $22,432,997, or a $2 a share, on sales of $514,132,435. Its sales for the previous fiscal year were $414,280,128, with earnings of $18,790,276, or $1.72 a share, before non-recurring income.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CARDS OF THANKS

IN loving memory of our dear husband, son and father, John Chavis, who passed away Jan. 22, 1964.
It's only a grave that still needs care, but the husband and father we loved is sleeping there. The call was sudden, the shock severe, we never thought such grief was near.
The pain of parting and no goodbye, shall remain with us until we die.
Some may have forgotten him now that he's gone, but we will love and remember no matter how long.
Sadly missed by Wife, Mother, Son and Family.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 21, 1964. There are 345 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1892, the United States demanded an apology, certain reparations and indemnities from the Chilean government for an assault on U.S. sailors in the streets of Valparaiso. Goodwill and cool-headedness on both sides quickly settled an international crisis which might have led to war.

On this date:

In 1793, King Louis XVI of France was beheaded.

In 1928, death came to the builder of the Panama Canal, Maj. Gen. George Goethals.

In 1945, Japanese suicide planes bombed the U.S. aircraft carrier Ticonderoga during World War II, killing 144 and injuring 193 crewmen.

In 1949, Dean Acheson was sworn in as U.S. secretary of state succeeding Gen. George C. Marshall who resigned.

Ten years ago — America's first atomic submarine — the USS Nautilus — was launched at Groton, Conn.

Five years ago — Pioneer motion picture producer Cecil B. DeMille died in Hollywood at the age of 77.

One year ago — United Nations forces completed the conquest of Katanga Province in the Congo.

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I prevent rust on some of my workshop tools?

A. Keep a few cones of carpenter's blue chalk in your toolbox to absorb moisture, and every couple of months dry the chalk thoroughly in an oven to renew its effectiveness.

Junior Editors Quiz on
THE NOBEL PRIZE

QUESTION: How did the Nobel prizes come into being?

ANSWER: Alfred Nobel, whose portrait appears on the medal, was a Swedish chemist, born in 1833. While still a young man, he became interested in the dangerous substance nitroglycerine, then too explosive for safe handling. It occurred to Nobel to try combining nitroglycerine with an inert earth called "kieselguhr," and he found that this made the explosive safe to handle. A "detonating cap" could be used to set off the mixture when wanted. This combination was called dynamite, and through its manufacture Nobel became one of the richest men in the world.

Noble though of dynamite as a material useful to mankind. But as time went on he saw the part explosives were playing in modern wars and regretted having invented anything so dangerous. Sincerely desiring world peace, Nobel decided to set up a fund to encourage peaceful and useful effort. Prizes were to be awarded each year. The first prize was given in 1901 and they still continue.

There are five Nobel prizes, for important achievement in physics, chemistry, medicine, literature and toward international peace. Some well known winners have been Marie Curie, Rudyard Kipling, Albert Einstein, Sinclair Lewis and Albert Schweitzer.

FOR YOU TO DO: It would be very interesting for you to find a list of Nobel prize winners and what they did. This will introduce you to one of the most brilliant and useful groups of men and women in history.

Karen Porter of Hamilton, Ontario, wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The grand old man of our family passed away several months ago at the age of 82. Uncle Cy left 64 descendants and he was loved by each and every one of us.

The family wants to have an oil portrait of Uncle Cy painted by a fine artist who works from photographs. We plan to present this portrait to Uncle Cy's widow on her 80th birthday. Please help us settle a question which has produced some strong differences of opinion.

Uncle Cy had a prominent scar on the side of his face—the result of a wound he received in World War I. He also had a blood blister on his lip. Some of the relatives want the artist to leave off the scar and the blood blister. They feel it would be indecorous to have these abnormalities reproduced. The artist does not agree. May we have your opinion? It will be the deciding one. — GO BETWEEN.

Dear Go: A portrait should be a faithful interpretation of what the artist sees. This means scar, blood blister—the whole bit.

Abraham Lincoln was once faced with a similar decision. When Lincoln sat for his official portrait his wife did not want the artist to show the wart on Lincoln's face. Lincoln insisted that the artist paint him as he saw him—and he did—wart and all.

Nail Chewer

Dear Ann: I'm a girl 14 who has 10 problems—my fingernails. I have bitten them ever since I can remember. No amount of shaming can get me to stop.

Yet I'm so self-conscious about my nails that I keep my fingers turned in so nobody can see them. I wear gloves whenever I can. Before an exam my fingers are actually sore because I bite my nails down so close. I envy my girl friends who have lovely nails and I'd give anything if I could let mine grow.

I've heard of some bitter-tasting stuff that can be bought in a drug store. It is applied like polish and is supposed to stop nail-biting. Does it work? What about artificial nails? They are expensive but it would be worth a month's allowance if I could break the habit. Please give me some advice. — TEN TROUBLES.

Dear Troubles: Nail-biting is a symptom of nervousness. You have cited the evidence by describing what happens to your nails before an exam.

The bitter-tasting stuff you buy at the drug store, or the artificial nails may be helpful temporarily, but if you want to kick the habit you'll have to go to work on whatever it is that makes you nervous.

Mixed Marriage

Dear Ann: Maybe you can help. Our 21-year-old daughter is planning to be married next summer. Loretta is our only child and we want so much for her to be happy.

The problem is this: Loretta's fiancé is of a different faith. Her father and I are upset about this, but we have accepted it. We are not insisting that he change for her, but I can't say the same about his parents. They are forever hammering at Loretta—trying to get her to change for him.

Loretta has started to go to church with them but he refuses to come to church with us. She loves him so much we think she finally will accept his faith to please him. This means our grandchildren will be brought up in their religion. This breaks our hearts.

What advice do you have for her, Ann? — UPSET PARENTS.

Men Draw Fines For Disturbance

Two Dixonville men were fined a total of $65 and costs on five charges Monday in Municipal Court, and a third man was given a suspended fine following a disturbance in Sandy's Tavern on St. Clair Ave. early Saturday.

Carleton L. Harris of Dixonville was fined $25 and costs on a fighting charge and $10 and costs each on charges of using indecent language and intoxication. He pleaded guilty to the intoxication charge and not guilty to the other counts.

Paul Harland Harris Jr., also of Dixonville, was fined $10 and costs each on charges of fighting and intoxication. He pleaded guilty to both.

Fred Cosgrove, 423 College St., was fined $10 and costs on a fighting charge, but the fine was suspended on payment of costs.

Police said the three were taken into custody at 2:32 a. m. Saturday.

Longest pass play in the Big Ten last season resulted in an 88-yard touchdown play. It went Steve Juday to Sherman Lewis of Michigan State against Southern California. The same pair also scored on an 87-yard pass play against Wisconsin.

Local Insurance Man Gets Portsmouth Post

Russell E. Hall, 800 Avondale St., has taken over his duties as manager of the Portsmouth office of the Western & Southern Life Insurance Co. after serving at the East Liverpool office nearly seven years.

Hall came here in July 1957 from the company's Hamilton office. His wife, son, Bill, a senior and varsity basketball and football player, and daughter, Beverly, a junior, will remain here for the present.

Hall is past president of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club and a member of the First Methodist Church. He formerly was active in the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Nurses Slate Meeting

LISBON — Three Red Cross films, "One Minute Past Three," "Prairie Schooner, Space Age model" and "Wonderful World of Food," will be presented when the Columbiana County School and Public Health Nurses meet Wednesday at 1:15 p. m. in the Health Department offices. Mrs. Mildred Ashbridge and Mrs. Virginia Kessler are program chairmen.

Over 200 Attend Chester Church Fete For Pastor

About 200 attended a farewell reception for the Rev. and Mrs. E. D. Gleaton and family Sunday night at the memorial hall of the Chester First Christian Church.

Rev. Gleaton is obtaining another pastorate.

Solos were sung by Miss Rebecca Miller, Miss Pat Swisher and Mrs. Irma Boggs. Musical selections were played by Mrs. Ellen Kell and Larry Cochran.

Elmer Kell introduced ministers and guests, including the Rev. Paul J. Dipolito and family, the Rev. Donald Vogel and family and the Rev. William Claghorn and family of Chester and the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Andrews of Wellsville.

A gift was presented to the Gleatons by Harrison Smith on behalf of friends. Mrs. Walter Anderson and Mrs. Donald Murray poured at a silver tea service.

In charge were Mrs. Lawson Miller, Mrs. Paul Murray, Mrs. Bessie Hood, Mrs. Boggs and Mrs. Alvin Reed.

Former City Resident Marks 90th Birthday

Joseph Davis, 126 S. Beaver St., Lisbon, former East Liverpool resident and retired street car motorman, marked his 90th birthday anniversary Monday.

Mr. Davis, born at Prosperity near West Beaver Presbyterian Church, was a motorman conductor on the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Traction Co., and lived here and at Wellsville and Steubenville.

He and his wife, the former Netty Davis, observed their 67th wedding anniversary Jan. 14, and received numerous cards of congratulations.

Davis said he voted for two Presidents who were assassinated—William McKinley and John Kennedy.

According to the latest estimate, today's average woman has 2.03 children. Incidentally, the number of women with three or more children has doubled within the past 20 years.

Board Forwards Draft Contingent

LISBON — Fourteen Columbiana County men left Monday for Cleveland and induction in the armed services, according to Draft Board 16.

They included:

East Liverpool — Thomas T. Archer, 1263 Erie St., John P. McCollough, 707 W. 9th; Carl G. Ludwig, 839 Chester Ave.; John G. Starkey, 545 Henry Ave.; Earl T. Anderson, Clark St.; Larry L. Davis, 820 Daisy Ln., Darryl T. Adams, R. D. 2 and, David L. Scott of Solon, formerly of East Liverpool.

Harry L. Duggan Jr., 431 W. 5th St., Salem; Dean E. Taggart, Salineville R. D. 1; Roger W. Walker, Lisbon R. D. 2; William D. Slagle, Negley R. D. 1; Oliver J. Cooper, Leetonia R. D. 2, and Robert R. Guy, New Waterford R. D. 1.

Forty-nine will leave Wednesday by special bus for Cleveland for pre-induction physicals.

The February call includes two for induction on Feb. 4; sixteen for induction on Feb. 18 and 57 to go for physicals on Feb. 25, according to Mrs. Elaine Griffith, clerk.

4 Northern Hancock Men Named By Osiris

Four Northern Hancock County members were named new officers at a meeting of the Arab Patrol unit of Osiris Temple of Wheeling Sunday night at Woody's Restaurant in Newell.

They are James W. Swain of Chester, second lieutenant; Walter L. Collins of Newell, drill sergeant; George A. Allison of Chester, adjutant, and Robert Swain of New Cumberland, fund-raising chairman.

The appointments were made by Ed Fisher, captain, and Roy Meredith, first lieutenant, of the Arab Patrol.

Plans were discussed to attend three ceremonials. They are the Imperial Council ceremonial in July in New York, and two in West Virginia—in June in Martinsburg and July 11 and Dec. 5 in Wheeling.

The Mid-Atlantic Shrine Conference is slated in Richmond, Va., in September, it was announced.

Hookstown Unit Conducts Dinner

The Subordinate and Juvenile Granges met for a covered-dinner and a dues-paying session at Hookstown Grange Hall Thursday evening. Seventy attended.

Ten Juvenile Grangers who will graduate to the Subordinate Grange in February were honored. They are Walter Seagrigh, William McElhany, Joan Stewart, Susan Miller, Karen Walker, Nancy Floyd, Evelyn Soisson, Cynthia Rardin and Ellen Louise Glenn.

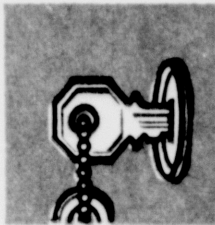

Members of the Juvenile Grange brought gifts to be sent to the Passavant Hospital in Rochester.

The Rev. William Fruth showed slides to the combined Granges of Passavant Hospital. Every one present received a favor made by the Juveniles at their last meeting.

William Thompson is master of the Subordinate Grange and Mrs. Charles Hartzell is matron of the Juvenile Grange.

Electrolysis is chemical decomposition by action of an electric current.
